15TH YEAR. NO. 298.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1900.

TWO CENTS

DEAD HEROES REMEMBERED

Despite the Weather Memorial Day Was Fittingly Observed In East Liverpool.

THE GRAND ARMY EXERCISES

Held at Beautiful Riverview Cemetery—Large Crowd Present at the Ceremonies.

THE PROGRAM FOLLOWED OUT.

The rain interfered only with the pleasure of those who took part in the Memorial day exercises. It did not interfere with the program as prepared, which was carried out in its entirety.

In fact in spite of the weather the observation of the day was one of the most successful ever held here. Tuesday evening and all yesterday morning hundreds wended their way to the various cemeteries, laden with flowers and flags, and tenderly decorated the mounds where lay their loved ones.

The ceremonies of the G. A. R. and associated societies began with the parade, which, under the marshalship of Captain W. F. Dawson, formed on Fifth and Broadway at 2 o'clock. Promptly at the hour the procession headed by General Lyon drum corps started for Riverview. Following the drum corps came the gun squad from General Lyon Post, G. A. R., and Garfield Camp, Sons of Veterans. Next came the members of the Grand Army Post and old soldiers. Veterans of '98, Sons of Veterans of Garfield camp, the school children in conveyances, the speakers and reception committee in carriages, the Women's Relief corps in carriages and the feeble members of the post also in carriages closed the formal procession behind which came a long line of citizens in carriages and on foot. Hundreds of others went to Riverview by other routes. The line of the procession was up Broadway to Forest, to Walnut, to Bradshaw, to Avondale, to the cemetery. All along the route residents turned out to view the procession and do honor to the veterans. Many flags were displayed, and as the parade passed householders and their families turned in and followed to the cemetery to take part in the exercises there.

It was nearing 3 o'clock when the beautiful ritual exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic were held at the mound near the Memorial chapel. with a prayer by Prof. O. S. Reed. Then followed the decoration of graves by the committee of school children in charge of details from the post, Garfield camp and the teachers.

The exercises at the grave were opened by Past Commander N. A. Frederick, master of ceremonies. The singing of "America" by the post quartet was followed by an invocation by Dr. Clark Crawford.

"Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," sung by the post quartet, preceded the address of the day by Rev. Earl D. Holtz, of Wellsville. The exercises closed with the singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," led by the quartet, followed by the benediction by Rev. J. C. Taggart.

NEW POTTER'S NATIONAL BANK.

NEW HOME OF THE POTTER'S NATIONAL.

Description of the Handsome New Building to Be Erected at the Corner of Fifth and Washington Streets.

The new home of the Potters' National bank, corner of Fifth and Washington, work on the foundation of which has just been commenced, will be one of the most handsome and serviceable structures in the city. It has been designed exclusively for banking purposes and every detail has been arranged to facilitate business and insure the comfort and convenience of the bank officials and their customers.

The building will be in the Italian renaissance style of architecture, the aim of the architect being to avoid useless ornamentation and to make the exterior show that it is intended solely for banking purposes.

The exterior facings will be composed of white Indiana limestone in combination with Pompeian gray pressed brick and gray terra cotta, the interior constructional walls being built of hard mill brick.

The floor girders will be of steel, supporting the wooden floor beams, and the building will be plastered with hard cement plaster.

The plumbing and sanitary systems will be of the latest patents and the entire building will be heated by steam and lighted by gas and electricity.

The banking room will occupy the entire first floor, having a ceiling height of 16 feet and will be richly adorned with San Domingo mahogany cabinet work, imported marble for counters and wainscoting, bronze metal screens, Italian marble floor tiling and ornamental plaster.

The cashier's office being the central executive office of the bank is so located as to be directly accessible to the public, and with easy communication to the tellers and the bookkeepers.

The tellers' space will have similar communication and will be entirely covered by a steel burglar-proof grille

with a self-closing steel gate.

Ample desk space will be provided for the bookkeepers, who will have direct communication to the cashier, the tellers and the public.

The rear of the banking room will be occupied by the directors' room and the safe deposit and book vaults.

The safe deposit department is complete in every detail, being located so that the vault is built entirely clear of the walls of the building, and arranged so that a view of every side of the vault can be obtained, the door when closed at night being visible at all times from the street.

This entire department surrounded by steel grille work with heavy locked gates contains private alcove or document rooms and a parlor or writing room, from which is obtained direct entrance to the safe deposit vault.

The safe deposit vault, which will be enclosed by heavy fire proof masonry walls, will consist of an interlining of various plates of Chrome steel, which plates run crosswise to each other and are secured by hardened and tempered Chrome steel screws. Entrance to this vault will be obtained in the day time by means of a self-closing steel gate and at night through outer and inner Chrome steel doors, which will be secured by heavy steel bolts, operated by triple movement time locks and other automatic devices.

The combined thickness of the outer door including the bolt frame will be eight inches; the inner door will be five inches in thickness and the entire vault will weigh when completed over 20 tons.

In this vault will be placed several hundred safe deposit boxes of various sizes and ample storage for books, silver, valuable paper, etc. It will also contain a heavy Chrome steel burglar proof chest for the storage of the bills, specie, securities, etc., of the bank. This chest being further protected by heavy Chrome steel doors secured by time locks and automatic locking devices.

The construction and arrangement of the vault are as near fire and burglar proof as human ingenuity can devise, containing every modern device known in the safe builders' art, and also impenetrable during both day and night, except to authorized persons.

The book vault which will have separate masonry walls will also be lined with steel and will be provided with fireproof outer and vestibule doors, the interior containing metal book shelves and filing cases for the books, documents, etc., of the bank.

In addition to these vaults, there will be constructed in the basement two fireproof storage vaults, one for the storage of silver, books, paintings, etc., and the other for the storage of the old books and documents belonging to the bank.

The entire system of steel vault work will be modern in every detail and the safety deposit vault will be equal, if not superior to any of the vaults which have been erected in the state of Ohio.

The second floor will contain large communicating offices, with a separate entrance, vestibule and stairway, and the third floor will contain living rooms for the janitor and quarters for one of the lodges of East Liverpool.

The building and vaults are being erected from the plans and under the supervision of Architects Mowbray & Uffinger, New York city, N. Y., the work being done by Messrs. J. C. Cain & Son, East Liverpool, who have agreed to have the building ready for occupancy by November 1, 1900.

SMALL STRIKES CAUSE TROUBLE

Temporary Misunderstandings Result In Inconvenience at Some Potteries.

MANUFACTURER'S STATEMENT

Thinks These Annoyances Might Be Avoided If Conference Committee

HAD CHANCE TO ACT FIRST.

The kiln drawers at the East Liverpool were on a strike for a few minutes yesterday morning because some of them did not want to work with a non-union man.

The matter was settled by Manager John W. Hall, who told the kiln drawers that no line of that kind could be drawn, as union and non-union men were working shoulder to shoulder in every pottery in the city without any distinction being made. The one man who started the agitation was permitted to leave the employ of the company and another non-union man put in his place.

It is held that the strikes in the various potteries should not be, as the manufacturers and Brotherhood have each appointed a committee to decide on the question in dispute and all questions should be referred to them, and the men should work on pending the action of the committee, which is final in all cases. A manufacturer in speaking of the matter said that when the men thought they were not getting fair treatment they had a recourse by taking the matter to the arbitration committee, which would represent them, and the manufacturers had the same chance. The manufacturers are prepared to live up to the decisions of the committee, but do not think that the men every time they have a grievance should stop work until the committee acts on it, but that they should continue work under the old rules until the matter was finally settled. It is argued that this method would do much to promote harmony in the potteries and would do away with many of the petty strikes.

At present there are two or three small strikes in the city and some of the factories have lost time when they might as well have been at work. The women kilndrawers at Murphy's want five women instead of four women in their department and the oddmen caused trouble at the D. E. McNicol pottery. The trouble at Murphy's was settled this afternoon.

The base ball game yesterday afternoon between the Burford and Standard Pottery teams was one of the most interesting of the season. The attendance was very large.

The Standard team was weakened by the absence of Carey and Hancock, but managed to put up a fairly good game. Burfords went to bat first and made two runs on a hit by pitched ball, two hits and an error by Howard.

Standards got a goose egg and Burfords made three in the second on errors by Davis and Dailey, a passed ball, a hit by pitched ball and two singles.

Both teams were shut out in the third and Burfords made three more in the fourth on errors by Trainor, John Goodwin, McNicol and two hits. Standard scored two on a base on balls and a two-base hit by Trainor.

In the fifth both teams were shut out, but Davis made the star play of the game. He was on third when Campbell hit a little one to Stillwell and was easily thrown out at first. Davis left third and trotted home, thinking three men were out. Lounds returned the ball to Emmerling and Davis was an easy out.

In the sixth Burfords made four runs on a succession of hits, errors, a passed ball and wild pitch. Standards got another goose egg.

The Burfords were shut out in the seventh and eighth, but the Standards made four more runs, two in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Davis seems to have lost his grip behind the bat and is not playing the game he did last season.

SMALL STRIKE

At the Salem Pottery—Clay Mixers Go Out and Work Stopped.

The clay mixers employed by the Salem China company went on a strike Tuesday morning. They have been getting 50 cents a press, or two-thirds of a cent a leaf. They made a demand for 75 cents a press or one cent a leaf.

The company refused to accede to their demands and they quit. Because the clay mixers struck and quit, the turners, finishers, jiggersmen and pressers were knocked out of work and had to lay off. About 100 men were thrown out of work by the strike.

The company claims the men are inexperienced mixers, as they had only worked at the business for nine months.

The regular price for experienced men is 75 cents a press. The company officials say they will put new men in place of the strikers.

Married at Lisbon.

Miss Iva Dilley and O. H. Barnes, both of Louisville, Ky., were married at Lisbon Tuesday at high noon. The bride is a sister of Mrs. R. W. Lemmon, of Mulberry street, whose guest she has been for several weeks. Mr. Barnes arrived Monday. They went to Lisbon and were married at the Trinity Episcopal church by the pastor, Rev. Charles Nauman. Mr. Barnes is a real estate dealer of Louisville. He left for his duties there this morning. Mrs. Barnes will visit friends here for a week or two before leaving for her Kentucky home.

Accident Near Calcutta.

Mrs. Lottie Haney and her sister, Miss Hendricks, secured a rig from Aaron McDonald to drive to Long's Run cemetery Monday. In the afternoon a man from the vicinity of Calcutta brought the horse back, reporting the buggy as being broken at the roadside near his home. Mr. McDonald drove out and found that the ladies had upset by driving over a small embankment and broken the top and one hind wheel of the buggy. The occupants were slightly injured and badly scared. The fact that the horse made no effort to get away probably saved them from serious injury.

A DECISION RENDERED

That Will Play Havoc With Important Street Improvements.

A decision fraught with much importance to the different cities of the state of Ohio, has been handed down by the supreme court. The ruling has changed the law governing appropriation cases for the past 32 years. By its provisions it will be almost impossible to make any improvements where appropriation of valuable land is necessary.

The case is entitled the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern Railway company vs. the city of Cincinnati et al. The court held that: "Section 19 of article 1, of the constitution, is a limitation upon section 6 of article 12, as to the power of assessments."

"Second—Compensation paid to a land owner for lands taken by appropriation proceedings, to open a street, cannot be assessed back upon the lands of the owner remaining after such taking. Neither can the costs and expenses incurred in such proceeding be so assessed. Cleveland vs. Wick, 18 Ohio St., 303 overruled."

By this ruling it is held that in case, for instance, it is decided to widen a street by the appropriation of a portion of abutting property, the owner of the property so taken cannot be assessed for the improvement. The expense of the appropriation must be borne by the general fund of the city.

In Judge Boone's Court.

Lisbon, May 31.—(Special.)—The probate court has issued an order of sale for personal property in the estate of the late Susanna Gempler.

In the case of H. F. Cunningham, administrator, vs. Henry Davis et al., Fred Gilbert, Joseph Crawford and a lot in East Fairfield which will be James Taylor were chosen to appraise offered at public sale.

SOUTH SIDE.

Big Day at Rock Springs.

Yesterday was a big day at Rock Springs. It was practically the first day that the park had been open to the public this season. Many spent the entire day there. At the pavilion the floor was covered with dancers the entire afternoon and evening. It was about 2 o'clock that the crowds began to move toward the Southside resort. Six cars were run on the Southside line, and that did not accommodate the people who wanted to ride.

Prof. Nowling's orchestra of seven pieces furnished the music.

The management of the park are putting the grounds in excellent shape. Bowling alleys and other forms of amusement have been provided. A small artificial pond has been formed just below the spring and will be stocked with water lilies.

The M. E. Chapel.

A meeting of those who will form the Southside M. E. congregation was held at the home of Mrs. Verdon Tuesday evening. Matters concerning the welfare of the church were discussed, but nothing of importance will be done, nor will the officers be elected until Dr. Mecham, the presiding elder, returns. The work on the excavation for the building is going on without any delay.

Remembered by His Friends.

Richard Banfield received a telegram yesterday morning telling him that a number of the friends of his son George, who died at Canal Dover, had shipped a box of flowers to be placed on his grave. The flowers arrived in due time, and the remembrance was greatly appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Banfield.

Election Not Settled.

One of the candidates who was near the top in the race for sheriff in the recent election made the statement yesterday that "the election is not settled yet." He is not alone in hoping that Hancock county will not see another primary conducted after the manner of the one of last Saturday.

Personals.

A Religious Census.

A religious census of Wellsville will be taken some day next week by 48 women, representing the evangelical churches of that city. The work is being done under the direction of the ministerial association. The object of the census is to find out who goes to church, to what church they go and who does not go to church at all. Rev. Earl D. Holtz has charge of the work and expects to finish the census in one day. The census taker will endeavor to get information on the following points: Name, street, member of what church? If not a member, what church is preferred? How many members of the family? Are all attending Sunday school? Any roomers or boarders? Names. Where do they attend church? Do you have a bible? How long have you lived in this city? Remarks.

THE CITY OF HONGKONG.

It Is One of the Most Unhealthy Spots on the Globe.

In spite of all the precautions that have been taken, the perfect sanitation of the city, the fine natural drainage, the cleanliness of the streets, Hongkong is one of the most unhealthful spots on the globe. With its tropical heat the lofty peaks that half encircle it catch the clouds that the rapid evaporation create, and they are squeezed like a sponge, the floods of rain pouring down in streaming torrents.

The houses lack light, although they are built as well as they could be, with perforated ceilings, through which the air circulates, admitted from openings pierced by the outer walls. The floors are brilliantly waxed, carpets, owing to the great dampness, being dispensed with. The great difficulty is to secure light and proper ventilation. The streets are very narrow, and the towering walls of buildings opposite obstruct the light in front, while at the rear the courts of terraces crowded with foliage cast a heavy shade from that direction. In the gardens, while plants flourish luxuriantly, there is no grass, but the ground is green with moss, just as it grows in damp, shady places in cooler climates. The heat and the great humidity are destructive to health, and it is doubtful if there is a single normal liver in the whole of Hongkong.

English women who come out with complexions of cream and roses grow thin and sallow. The Hongkong complexion is a startling grayish green, and the old resident has with this paler dark bluish circles under the eyes. The least exertion includes exhausting perspiration, and people become gaunt and thin.—Boston Transcript.

OF UNTOLD VALUE.

The Information Contained In This Citizen's Statement Is Priceless.

The hale, the hearty, the strong can afford to toss this paper to one side impatiently when they read the following, but any sufferer in East Liverpool who has spent a mint of money and suffered hours of excruciating tortures caused by kidney complaint will stand in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered by Mr. S. C. Hill, of Ester, Pa., carpenter, who says: "For a year I suffered from a pain across my back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally, anxious to procure some treatment which would check, if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool people to thoroughly grasp this fact, before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured. To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased for a neighbor of mine three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Now, when a preparation which cured me in the condition I was in, and also my neighbor, a preparation which is held in such reputation in and around East Liverpool, that an acquaintance of mine advised me through a newspaper statement to obtain it, when that preparation performs exactly what it promises, what can be expected of any resident of East Liverpool suffering from kidney complaint who will not take advantage of his neighbor's experience and profit by his opinions."

An Echo from the Junk Shop

By the Repair Man.

Once you were pure
As the beautiful snow:
But thou hast fallen!
Now your dazzling splendor
Which glitters in the summer sun
Pleads to the bargain hunter
Who will also fall.
Then his breath will come
In hard blue pants—
Like the hired man's—
And he will consign thee
To the junk shop
And buy an Orient.
Poor Bargain Bike!
Thou art no more fit
To be called a bicycle
Than these lines are
To be called a poem.

The Orient Bicycle will drop its price when, like other wheels, it drops its quality and stops winning races--AND NOT UNTIL THEN!

All that remains for the Boer en-

In order to avoid mistakes it may be pointed out that the Sousa who

Base Ball.

The Jethro Buckeyes and the West
End Rovers played one of the best
games of the season at Rock Springs
yesterday. The score was 5 to 4 in a 12-inning game, the features of
which were the work of Ben Welch,
as catcher, and that of both pitchers.
Hobbs had 10 strikeouts and Painton
8. There were 7 hits off Painton and
9 off Hobbs. Hit by pitcher, Painton,
2; Hobbs, 1. Bases on balls, Painton,

tie Bradshaw, Nellie Braden, Lois

Had His Chicken.

"Queen," the big python at the zoo,
had a six and one-half pound chicken
for dinner yesterday afternoon in the presence of the audience.

MRS. CUS LAMBRIGGER.

This Lady is Perfectly Fearless in Handling the Monster
Snakes.

Mrs. Lambrigger was engaged this morning in giving her dangerous pets
a warm bath. It was amusing to note
how carefully her helpers avoided the heads of the great pythons, keeping
well down to the tail end, while Mrs.
L. grasped the reptile just back of the head and directed the movements of
her assistants, as the massive coils
were lifted warily and plumped into
the water, the great snakes apparently deeming the bath a delicious thing
and a decided luxury. Mrs. Lambrigger requested the writer to assist her
in manipulating the coils of the second largest python, asserting that
there was not the slightest danger.
We informed the madame that we
possess quite a reputation for gallantry, and hated awfully to refuse the
earnest request of a lady, but emphasized the fact that we had bought no pythons, had no desire to take stock in the snake market, had lost no snakes, hated the reptiles on
general principles, and begged the
clever lady to kindly excuse us, asking her to trot out a few lions, tigers,
black apes and dog-faced baboons,
and we would take them willingly;
but 31-foot snakes were barred; were
just a shade beyond our fighting limit,
and we had no desire to enter into
a hugging or squeezing match, with
the odds so fearfully against us.

CIRCUS DAY TOMORROW.

Ringling Bros.' Big Show Awaited
With Eager Anticipation.

Circus day is almost here. Tomorrow, Friday, June 1, will witness the arrival of Ringling Brothers' long-expected big show. The name of this wonderful institution has preceded it,
and circus day will be a record making event in the annals of amusement
in this city. The management is not content to have one great feature.
First will be the magnificent free
street parade and open air spectacle.
Nothing to compare with this wonderful display has ever been seen in America. The procession leaves the show grounds promptly at 10 o'clock,
and the route is over the principal
downtown streets. The parade is divided into 30 sections, each of which
is complete in itself, and yet so beautifully blended as to form a continuous two-mile line of ever-changing
color and brilliancy.

The first performance will be given
at 2 o'clock and the final one at 8 p.
m. The doors will be open one hour
before the performance, to afford visitors an opportunity to examine the magnificent zoological display. Reserved numbered seats and admissions
show day, without any advance in
price, at Will Reed's Grand Opera House Drug Store.

Chartered.

The Cherry Valley Iron company,
of Pittsburg, with $350,000 capital, has
been chartered at Harrisburg. The company is formed to operate the furnace and a 2,000-acre coal property of the old Cherry Valley Iron works near Leetonia, recently purchased. The furnace has a capacity of 200 tons a day.

Another Well to be Drilled.

The Salem Gas and Oil company is preparing to put down another test
well in the vicinity of the one shot
near New Albany the other day. The
company expected to get the drills
started today. Pittsburg parties were here yesterday trying to obtain leases
also.

A Child Dead.

Gorgiana, the 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, of College street, died yesterday morning. The child had been afflicted with pneumonia for about six weeks. The funeral was held this afternoon, Rev.

Reinartz officiating. Interment in the Spring Grove cemetery.

THE BIGGEST FLAG.

Washington Claims to Have It, But It
is Right Here in Tyrone.

A telegram dated at Washington,
D. C., the other day, is going the rounds of newspaperdom. It says:

"Ferdinand Peck, United States
commissioner general to the Paris exposition, recently requested the loan
of a large flag which hangs in the pension office. It was the intention,
he said, to float it on the Eiffel tower
on the Fourth of July. Secretary
Hitchcock has decided to grant the request. This is the largest American
flag in the world, measuring 26x50."

At a dinner party a few nights ago
those present were commenting upon
the flag and its size when one of the guests, one of the most prominent gentlemen in the city, noted for his conservatism and reliability, said: "I don't think that is the largest Ameri-
can flag—in fact I know it is not—because I was present at Tyrone, Pa.,
during the Spanish American war
when they raised a flag 300 feet long."

Respect for the gentleman's verac-
ity, mingled with wondering surprise at
his telling such a "fish story," caused
a period of profound silence. Then
one of the diners suggested in a friendly way: "Mr. —, if I were
you I'd take off a foot or two." The other, having realized just how big
a 300-foot flag would be, saw he had
unintentionally stretched it, and replied: "Well, I'll take off a couple of hundred feet, but not another inch." Even then the members of the party
were not wholly convinced. The following clipping was secured from a Tyrone paper, comparing the Paris
flag with the one there, and the diners when they read the News Review
this evening will have their confidence
in human nature restored.

"That the flag referred to is a large
one there is no doubt, but we have
one right here in Tyrone that beats
it more than two to one. Our flag
is 60x100 feet in size. It was floated
across the narrows below town on a
cable stretched an eighth of a mile
from mountain to mountain on the 20th
of August, 1898, when the United States was at war with Spain. The emblem is somewhat tattered now,
but it is carefully preserved by William T. Henderson, who was chairman
of the committee having in charge the
greatest day for bigness of crowd and
the shouting of patriotism that Tyrone ever witnessed. In some things,
perhaps, we may be second rate, but
for big flags we want it understood that Tyrone is first."

KEEP OFF STREETS.

Mayor Davidson Makes a Request of
the Owners of Horses to be Careful Tomorrow.

Mayor Davidson requests that all persons with vehicles and horses will
keep off the streets tomorrow as far
as possible while the parade is taking place. He makes the request in the hope that all possibility of accidents
will be removed, and if the people
live up to it there will not be any danger of a runaway like the one which occurred in the city the day the Fore-
paugh-Sells Brothers circus was here.

SEVERAL HEARINGS TO COME

A Minor Called For a Drink and
the Bartender Called the Fire Station.

TALE OF WALLACE AND NEPHEW

The police did a land office business
yesterday and gathered in a number
of victims who didn't know enough to stay sober on Decoration day.

James Gibbons, a minor who resides
in Industry, Pa., came to the city yesterday and got it into his head that he would like to have a drink. He went into a saloon and asked for what
he wanted, but the proprietor of the saloon called up the fire station and
Officer Wood placed James under arrest. The mayor fined him $6.60 for trying to get something which he had
no business having.

James Monroe, who does not claim
relationship to the illustrious James Monroe, filled up with very bad whisky
yesterday and when he fell into the hands of Officer Aufderheide he was very drunk and had taken up a position in the vicinity of the National house prepared to spend the night. He was hauled to city hall and will get a hearing at a later date.

Edward Smink was out on Sixth
street yesterday owning the street
when Officer Morris appeared on the scene. Smink was seemingly full of the essence of corn juice and got
a ride to the city jail. He will call tonight and tell how it all happened.

Charles Brothers filled up with the
stuff which "biteth like a serpent and
stingeth like an adder" and yesterday
afternoon when Chief Thompson arrested him he was holding up the Sebring pottery in order to keep it
from falling in the street. When he
was taken away the pottery didn't
fall, much to his surprise, and the
next thing he knew he was holding up
a cell in the city jail. He will find out today how much it cost him to do
all this unnecessary work.

Robert Hunt was out on a still hunt
by himself when Officer Mahony
found him at the lower end of Fifth street. The officer decided that Hunt
was not in the proper shape to go
hunting and he would hunt a better
place for Hunt, in order that Hunt
might sober up and not hunt any more bad whisky. Hunt will find out how much it costs to be assisted by
the officer some time today.

John McGuire wasn't asleep at the
switch when Officer Wood found him
at 2:45 o'clock this morning, but he
was asleep on the railroad track at
the old freight station. He was taken to a safer place at once and this morning the mayor gave him just one hour
to get out of the city. He got.

The last victim was an old man who
was raising Cain on Sixth street last night about midnight. He was arrested by Wood and McDonald, but
did not face the mayor this morning,
and his name is not yet known.

Harry Aiken, who was implicated
in a fight last Saturday night, called
on the mayor last evening and settled
with his honor by paying $6.60.

J. C. Wallace called on the mayor
this morning and made a charge of
assault and battery against his step-
son, Wilbur Denning. Wallace told a heart rending story of how his boy
had come down from New Brighton
yesterday and filled up with bad
whisky and then proceeded to give
him a thrashing by knocking him

down and kicking him in the face.
Wallace said he did not retaliate and
said he did not think he should have
been treated that way, as he had spent
thousands of dollars upon that boy
and had made him what he was. The details of how the blood had been
wiped from his face by a good kind
lady was given the mayor, and in fact
Wallace didn't leave anything out.
The appearance of Benning is awaited
with interest.

The special police who were on duty
yesterday were Oscar Bowles, Thomas
Stafford, Todguy White, R. L. Mc-
Kenty and Samuel Johnson.

GREAT CONFLICT REVIEWED.

The Rev. Dr. Earl D. Holtz, of Wells-
ville, was the orator of the day at Riverview cemetery yesterday. In the course of an eloquent address he said:

"We live in a different world, now
from that in which we lived during
and before the war of the rebellion.
Who would have dared to predict the
electric motor, telephone and other
of our late inventions then. It is a larger world. Much of this was brought about by science. The war itself had a tremendous influence in
these improvements, lifting America
to a higher point in the world. The triumph of the union cause settled
several things. First the question of states' rights, which had been an annoying and puzzling question since the adoption of the constitution. Had
the south triumphed we should have
had two rags instead of one glorious flag. New England would probably have sprung away from the other states and the great west would have
claimed the right to form another
empire, and the result would have been a lot of petty states instead of one glorious union. Another result
was the dignity it gave to labor. It
lifted it from an enforced servitude
to its present honorable position.

"There were more than two million
men engaged in the civil war. This number is so large that were they to
march by a given point it would take 118 days, marching day and night, to pass. The number that perished in battle was 300,000 and 200,000 died as
a direct result, making a total of one-
half million men. The sorrows which they bore were many and the honor
due them cannot be measured. Decoration day is a day that should be solemnly observed. The Grand Army
men should see that a law be passed
prohibiting the playing of base ball
and other games on that day. In 20
years from now a soldier who fought
in the civil war will be looked upon
as a curiosity, just as the soldier of the Revolution was looked upon in our
younger days."

HANDSOME APPEARANCE.

The Local Policemen Were Out in Their New Uniforms Yester-
day Afternoon.

The police force headed the parade
yesterday. They were attired in their officers looked more like metropoli-tand handsome appearance. In fact the officers looked more like a metropolitan policemen than any the city ever
had. The city has reason to be proud of the excellent appearance of the officers yesterday. The umbrellas
they carried were generously donated
to them by Steinfeld & Viney.

After the parade the officers went
to city hall, where they enjoyed ice
cream at the expense of Barney Scott,
chief of the Steubenville police.

CHINA THREATENED.

Warned to Allow Guards to Go to Peking.

IF NOT, FORCE WILL BE USED.

Foreign Envoys Declare They Will Have Large Bodies of Men Landed—Three Families of Christians Murdered by the Boxers.

TSEN TSIN, May 31.—The foreign envoys have warned the Chinese government that if the guards for the legations are not allowed to go to Peking, large enough bodies of men will be landed to forcibly march there.

TSEN TSIN, May 31.—The Chinese refuse to allow Russian troops to pass the Taku forts.

TSEN TSIN, May 31.—American, British, Japanese, German, Italian, Russian and French troops, to the number of 100 each, were ordered to guard their respective legations at Peking, but the viceroy here would not allow them to proceed hence to Peking on the railway without the authority of the Tsung Li Yamen. One hundred and eight Americans, with a machine gun and a field gun, landed here amidst great enthusiasm on the part of the residents. Five Russian and one British warship arrived at Taku and the British were landing.

Other warships were expected. Three thousand troops from Lu Tai were expected here, en route to Fang Tai.

PEKIN, May 29.—(Tuesday) From all parts of the surrounding country news arrived of fresh atrocities committed by the "Boxers." Three Christian families were massacred at Shan Lai Ying, about 60 miles from Peking, Friday, May 25.

LONDON, May 31.—A dispatch from Shanghai, dated Wednesday, said:

"Yesterday the Chinese government issued an edict prohibiting the Boxers' organization under penalty of death. The edict, which was signed by the emperor, was couched in equivocal terms and promulgated really more as an excuse than in condemnation of the movement.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—It is believed here the above was issued under pressure of the foreign envoys.

AGENTS PRAISED NEELY.

Rathbone's Report on Condition of Postal Finances Furnished by Secretary Smith.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Postmaster General Emory Smith sent to the house, in response to resolutions of inquiry, a letter of Director of Posts Rathbone, of Cuba, dated April 25 last, enclosing a copy of reports on the condition of the finances made by officers of the postal service in Cuba. Mr. Rathbone states that 81 money order offices are in operation, of which 56 have been inspected, including the Havana office. He added:

"In the inspection of the offices herein included some irregularities were found, which have been corrected and the postmasters thoroughly instructed. A report by Special Agent Seybolt shows many offices in good condition, with some confusion at a few points. At Cienfuegos a shortage of $179 was located, and the money order division at Havana was short $424.73, both shortages being made good." Elaborate accounts of Messrs. Seybolt and Neal, special agents, are appended, giving the balances on many different accounts. These are certified as correct, and the special agents say in a summary, dated April 23:

"The manner in which these accounts, stamps, supplies and funds are handled reflects credit upon the chief of the bureau of finance, Mr. Charles F. W. Neely, and his assistants."

APPEAL TO DEMOCRATS.

Hearst Calls on Democratic Clubs to Hold Meetings on the Fourth of July.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Mr. William R. Hearst, president of the National Association of Democratic clubs, had a formal conference with the principal Democratic leaders in Washington regarding the plan of campaign to be followed in the approaching presidential struggle. Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee; Representative Richardson, Democratic leader in the house and chairman of the congressional committee; Judge Chauncey F. Black, Representative Slayden and others were present. It was agreed that the national committee, the National Association of Democratic clubs and the Democratic congressional campaign committee should work in harmony.

To the Democratic Clubs of the United States:

Recent events in the history of the United States point to the approaching anniversary of the birthday of the nation as a day that should be celebrated with special favor this year. There are those in the nation who seek to create the impression that the American people have outgrown their love for the just principles of government expressed in the Declaration of Independence, and are ready to surrender their moral leadership among nations in order to gratify a newly born instinct for imperial power, founded on a colonial system.

All the Democratic clubs and societies are earnestly requested to assemble on the Fourth of July, and all patriotic citizens, regardless of past party affiliations, are urged to join with them in a new pledge of fidelity to the republic as the fathers made it. Let the people of the United States unite in their various cities, towns and villages in a demonstration of the confidence they feel in the form of government under which the nation has grown to its present greatness. The danger which threatens the country is real and imminent.

It seems appropriate, therefore, that citizens who believe that the declaration of independence is not merely an academic document should meet together on this day and give voice to the national sentiment that all men are created free and equal and that there must be no subject colonies under the American flag.

STONE'S ILLEGAL VETO.

Elkin Declares the People Can't Vote on the Amendments Next November.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 31.—Attorney General Elkin said that the proposed amendments to the constitution, providing for personal registration of voters and the introduction of voting machines, which the supreme court has decided Governor Stone had no authority to veto, cannot be voted upon at the election next November. The legislature of 1901 must first act upon them, and if a majority of its members support them, they will then be submitted to a vote of the people.

As soon as Judge Weiss receives a certified copy of Chief Justice Green's opinion he will make an order directing the secretary of the commonwealth to advertise the proposed amendments.

WORKED THE AGENT.

THE GRAND PROMOTER TOO MUCH FOR THE BOOK CANVASSER.

Major Crofoot Organizes the Dietary Sausage Trust on a Capital of $5,000,000 and Accepts a Small Installment of Cash on Account.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was a canvasser for "The Life of Napoleon," price $3.50 in calf, and he had scarcely exhibited his sample copy when Major Crofoot arose and took him by the hand and exclaimed:

"Just the man I wanted to see of all others in the world! By George, but this is luck!"

"I shall be happy to book your order," smilingly replied the canvasser. "Will you take calf or morocco?"

"My dear man," continued the major, "my name is on a sign at the door, but it doesn't state my business. Let me say to you that I am a grand promoter of enterprises, an organizer, a consolidator, an originator of some of the most stupendous and gigantic schemes of the country. You have come to the right man in the right time."

"Will you take calf or morocco?"

"Six stupendous enterprises in the last six weeks—one per week—and every one of them bound to pay a quarterly dividend of 30 per cent—bound to do it. That's $1.20 per year, and I'd like to see the diamond mines doing better. Six stupendous enterprises originated, capitalized and floated, and now comes the seventh. Fortune must have directed your footsteps. I am going to take you in. Yes, sir, I'll give you a show compared to which the 'Life of Napoleon' can't be mentioned. Let me congratulate you, sir—let me shake hands with another newborn millionaire!"

"Y-e-s, but how about the book, major?" was asked.

"You have heard of the dietary sausage, of course," said the major as he walked to and fro; "invented by accident by one of the greatest chefs in America, and, as he had no idea of what a good thing he had struck, I bought his right, title and interest for

"SALARY TO BE PAID WEEKLY OR MONTHLY."

a mere song. The d. s. has jumped into popularity in a day; has all the juiciness of fresh pork, the nutritive qualities of beef, and the taste reminds you of venison; can be made of seven kinds of meat if you happen to have them on hand, or you can get along with only one. It's the way they are fried that makes 'em dietary and has set the gormands crazy; sure to drive every other sausage out of the market in four weeks more—sure to do it; can be furnished as rations to every army and navy in the world; can be sold in every hotel, boarding house and family wherever humanity exists; good for breakfast, dinner or supper; can't run no camp meeting, picnic or Sunday school excursion without 'em. My dear fellow man, your fortune is made!"

"If you would select the style of binding"—began the man.

"But we've got to go a little slow for a few weeks," interrupted the major. "There is a disposition on the part of the world's aristocracy to class sausage way down on the list of meats; can't expect that lords and dukes and presidents will order a second plate of them until they realize that it won't affect their social positions; got to look out for social prestige, you know. Once get the whirlwind of popularity started, and the public won't stop to ask whether our dietaries are made of fish, flesh or coco matting. First thing is to warrant them to cure indigestion, torpid liver and all that. They are a spring and fall tonic. All singers, actresses and athletes use them; testimonials from professors, actors, clergymen and thousands of others, and all family doctors recommend them above everything else. And there you are, my boy; there you are, and let me shake hands with you again."

"But the book, major. The price in calf is"—

"And you are to be our purchasing agent and buy our raw material. Dietary sausages will be made in several different lengths and sizes, and we shall use beef, pork, mutton, fish and what not; everything to be bought alive and killed in our own slaughter houses and hashed up with our own knives. You attend to the buying and I attend to the frying. Millions of dollars will pass through your hands every year, but we shall trust to your honesty; salary $15,000 per year at least, and you come in on the ground floor for stock. I just lack $10 to meet the expenses of organization, and I'll borrow it of you for a day or two. We shall capitalize at $5,000,000, but probably increase to $15,000,000 inside of a year. And what is the name, please?"

"Yes, we will call it the Great American Dietary Sausage company," interrupted the major, "and as purchasing agent we'll deposit $500,000 to your credit to start on; salary to be paid weekly or monthly, just as you elect, and the dividends on the stock to come quarterly. I need $10 to see my way clear, but if you can't spare that sum give me $5. And there you are, sir; there you are."

"But I haven't got $5."

"Don't neglect this golden opportunity, my dear contemporary; don't do it. The man who invented the Welsh rabbit made $3,000,000 and lived to be 90 years old. Angel cake brought its inventor $1,000,000 while he lived and a monument 40 feet high after death. Hoky poky ice cream won't be in it with dietary sausage. Peanut brittle and lobster salad have already gone to the rear. Why, sir, any moment a telegraph boy may come in with a telegram from the president reading: 'Congratulations on your dietary; have only eaten one barrel and am sure I shall be renominated. Send another by express.' The very next mail will probably bring unsolicited testimonials from a dozen actresses and four or five senators. It is needless for me to tell you that delays are dangerous. Time, tide and the dietary sausage wait for no man. If you haven't got $5, I'll try and make $3 do. Leave your name and $3."

"The 'Life of Napoleon'—"

"Never mind the 'Life of Napoleon,' my boy. Napoleon was a great man, but Major Crofoot wasn't on earth then. We are not delving in the past, but digging into the future. Where Napoleon made $100 you'll make $5,000. Let others conquer the world by force of arms if they will, but we'll conquer it by force of dietary sausage. You've certainly got $2 about you. I want to get the organization perfected today."

"I've—I've only got a dollar," stammered the canvasser as he exhibited the bill.

"Well, I'll take it and make it go as far as it will," replied the major as the greenback changed hands. "You'll feel safer for having invested money in the enterprise. Stock will be ready in about two weeks, and as soon as we can erect and equip a factory you'll begin purchasing stock. Yes, I'll make the dollar do, and you'd better begin posting up on meats. When we once get started"—

"But I came up here to sell you this book!"

"When we once get started, we'll use up at least 1,000 tons per week, and you must be able to tell at a glance whether the meat is juicy enough for our purpose. That's all, and there you are, and I'll send for you when the papers are ready to be signed. I think we'll make the ground floor price on stock 20 cents, but maybe we can scale that figure down a little. At any rate, there you are, and you can have every confidence that your canvassing days are ended. Turn to the right, please, and good day—good day."

"But listen a minute. I came up here to sell you"—

"And don't give me away—don't do it," cautioned the major as he pushed his caller along. "Just keep mum and saw wood until our patent is secured, and then we'll jump on the whole world with both feet and boom dietary sausage even to the drawing rooms of royalty. Ground floor—$15,000 per year—golden opportunity. Don't miss it."

A minute later the canvasser found himself on the street, and when he was asked what had happened him that he looked so put out he replied:

The History of Grip.

The history of "grip," or influenza, can only be traced back, with any certainty, for 300 years. Perhaps its home is in Russia. It retains certain broad characteristics which make it recognizable even under such odd names as the "gentle correction" and the "new delight." A curious description of it under the name of "coqueluche" is found in the diary of Pierre de L'Estoile in the time of Henry III of France, as follows:

"The coqueluche at Paris, year 1580. —From the 2d day to the 8th day of June there fell sick at Paris 10,000 persons of an illness having the form of a rheum or catarrh, which they call the 'coqueluche.' This illness seizes you with a pain in the head, stomach and loins and a lassitude throughout the body, and it persecuted the whole kingdom of France while the year lasted, so that once having come hardly anybody in a town or village or house escaped."

"The best remedy the doctors found was to make the sick abstain from wine. To some they ordered bleeding and rhubarb, for others cassia, and finally they found it best to keep the sick in bed and allow them little to eat and drink. They say at Paris that of this 'coqueluche' there were dead at Rome, in less than three months, more than 10,000 persons."

Gargling the Throat.

If one is to really do good by gargling—that is, if one is to insure that the fluid shall reach the posterior wall of the pharynx—the nose must be held and the head must be well thrown back while performing the gargling process. By gargling in the usual way only the anterior surface of the uvula and soft palate and the base of the tongue are reached. But by holding the nose and throwing the head well back when gargling the medicament reaches every surface of the pharynx very effectively.

The comparative value of the two methods can be tested by painting the posterior surface of the pharynx carefully with a strong solution of methylene blue and then letting the patient gargle with water in the usual way, when it will be found that the water ejected will be clear and unstained; then let him gargle again, holding the nose and throwing his head well back, when the ejected fluid will be found stained, and an inspection of the pharynx will show that the blue has been washed away.

This is a thing worth remembering, for many observers have maintained that gargling is not only useless as a method of medication, but is quite ineffectual even as a means of cleansing the pharynx.—Charlotte Medical Journal.

A Famous Kentucky Hotel.

The Phoenix hotel is in one sense the oldest hotel in the whole western country, for it has, with varying changes, continued to exist ever since the year 1800. It was here that Aaron Burr lodged in 1806 while engaged in his daring conspiracy to make himself the head of a new empire and was here met and welcomed by Herman Blennerhassett, the cultured but unfortunate Irishman he had so completely fascinated. Here, as far back as Jefferson's administration, Democrats and Federalists, in knee buckled breeches, ruffled shirts and dangling cues, talked redhot politics. It was the scene of a sumptuous dinner to Lafayette, and later was the stopping place of the wily Mexican chieftain General Santa Anna. During the civil war, while Lexington was held by the Confederates, it was the headquarters of Generals Bragg and Kirby Smith and before the struggle ended sheltered General Grant. President Arthur has also been its guest.—Lexington (Ky.) Observer.

A Torturing Suggestion

The doomed man shuddered. "There will be no music when I march to the scaffold?" he asked anxiously.

They reassured him.

"There was a march played when I was married," he muttered. "I—I could not bear to be reminded of that!"

OLD TIMES, OLD FRIENDS, OLD LOVE.

There are no days like the good old days—

The days when we were youthful;
When humankind were pure of mind
And speech and deeds were truthful;
Before a love for sordid gold
Became man's ruling passion—
And before each maid and maid became Slaves to the tyrant fashion.

There are no girls like the good old girls—

Against the world I'd stake 'em—
As buxom and smart and clean of heart
As the Lord knew how to make 'em.
They were rich in spirit and common sense,
A pity all supporting;
They could bake and brew and had taught
school, too,
And they made the likeliest courtin.

There are no boys like the good old boys

When we were boys together,
When the grass was sweet to the brown bare feet
That dimpled the laughing heather,
When the pewee sung to the summer dawn
Of the bee in the billowy clover,
Or down by the mill the whippoorwill
Echoed his night song over.

There is no love like the good old love—

The love that mother gave us.
We are old, old men, yet we pine again
For that precious grace—God save us.
So we dream and dream of the good old times,
And our hearts grow tenderer, fonder,
As those dear old dreams bring soothing gleams
Of heaven away off yonder.

When the Moment to Strike Had Come, He Did Not Hesitate.

Badajos lies in Spain five miles from the Portuguese frontier. It was the key of a situation. Wellington's chance was to strike at Badajos before the French marshals could combine and crush him. His task was both in front of him and behind him. He lacked transport; he lacked food for the men; the soldiers were eating cassava root instead of bread; the bullocks were weak and emaciated. All this was the doing of the parliament at home.

But Wellington knew that the moment to strike had come, and he seems to have hesitated very little. Placing no faith in the tongues of the Portuguese, he made his plans with all possible secrecy. The guns for the siege were loaded on board the transport at Lisbon and consigned to a fictitious address. But in the river Sadhao they were placed upon smaller vessels, and finally they were again landed and drawn by bullocks to Elos, a post in the possession of the allies. Having stationed two-thirds of his force under General Graham and General Hill to prevent a most probable interference by Soult and Marmont, Wellington advanced, reaching Elos on the 11th of March, 1812. He had made the most incredible exertions.

The stupidity of the Portuguese had vied with the stupidity of the government at home. Wellington had been carrying the preparation for the campaign upon his own shoulders. If he was to win Badajos, he was to win it with no help save that from gallant and trustworthy subordinates. He was ill withal. Even his strangely steel-like nature had bent beneath the trouble of preparation amid such indifference. But on March 16 Beresford, with three divisions, crossed the Guadiana on pontoons and flying bridges, drove the enemy's outposts and invested Badajos.—Stephen Crane in New Lipincott's.

Bet and Wager.

"What's the difference between a bet and a wager?" asked the man who thinks there are too many words in the English language.

"A bet," said the friend who always wears a dress coat after 6 o'clock, "is something you make with a man, which has to be paid, no matter who loses. A wager is something more refined. It's made with a woman and is not considered collectable unless she wins."—Washington Star.

Peculiar.

Professor Simon J. Brown, the astronomical director of the naval observatory at Washington, occasionally indulges in a bit of humor. On one occasion a colleague came into his office and, finding the professor standing, said: "Is it possible you work that way? I cannot stand standing."

"That's peculiar," replied Professor Brown quickly. "Now, do you know, I cannot stand sitting."

Beware of using the personal pronoun "I" too freely in your talk when you are talking in a room full of people. Egotists are often amusing and entertaining, but as often they are very much out of order.—Ladies' Home Journal.

15TH YEAR. NO. 298.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1900.

THE GRAND ARMY EXERCISES

Held at Beautiful Riverview Cemetery—Large Crowd Present at the Ceremonies.

THE PROGRAM FOLLOWED OUT.

The rain interfered only with the pleasure of those who took part in the Memorial day exercises. It did not interfere with the program as prepared, which was carried out in its entirety.

In fact in spite of the weather the observation of the day was one of the most successful ever held here. Tuesday evening and all yesterday morning hundreds wended their way to the various cemeteries, laden with flowers and flags, and tenderly decorated the mounds where lay their loved ones.

The ceremonies of the G. A. R. and associated societies began with the parade, which, under the marshalship of Captain W. F. Dawson, formed on Fifth and Broadway at 2 o'clock. Promptly at the hour the procession headed by General Lyon drum corps started for Riverview. Following the drum corps came the gun squad from General Lyon Post, G. A. R., and Garfield Camp, Sons of Veterans. Next came the members of the Grand Army Post and old soldiers. Veterans of '98, Sons of Veterans of Garfield camp, the school children in conveyances, the speakers and reception committee in carriages, the Women's Relief corps in carriages and the feeble members of the post also in carriages closed the formal procession behind which came a long line of citizens in carriages and on foot. Hundreds of others went to Riverview by other routes. The line of the procession was up Broadway to Forest, to Walnut, to Bradshaw, to Avondale, to the cemetery. All along the route residents turned out to view the procession and do honor to the veterans. Many flags were displayed, and as the parade passed householders and their families turned in and followed to the cemetery to take part in the exercises there.

It was nearing 3 o'clock when the beautiful ritual exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic were held at the mound near the Memorial chapel. with a prayer by Prof. O. S. Reed. Then followed the decoration of graves by the committee of school children in charge of details from the post, Garfield camp and the teachers.

The exercises at the grave were opened by Past Commander N. A. Frederick, master of ceremonies. The singing of "America" by the post quartet was followed by an invocation by Dr. Clark Crawford.

"Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," sung by the post quartet, preceded the address of the day by Rev. Earl D. Holtz, of Wellsville. The exercises closed with the singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," led by the quartet, followed by the benediction by Rev. J. C. Taggart.

NEW POTTER'S NATIONAL BANK.

NEW HOME OF THE POTTER'S NATIONAL.

Description of the Handsome New Building to Be Erected at the Corner of Fifth and Washington Streets.

The new home of the Potters' National bank, corner of Fifth and Washington, work on the foundation of which has just been commenced, will be one of the most handsome and serviceable structures in the city. It has been designed exclusively for banking purposes and every detail has been arranged to facilitate business and insure the comfort and convenience of the bank officials and their customers.

The building will be in the Italian renaissance style of architecture, the aim of the architect being to avoid useless ornamentation and to make the exterior show that it is intended solely for banking purposes.

The exterior facings will be composed of white Indiana limestone in combination with Pompeian gray pressed brick and gray terra cotta, the interior constructional walls being built of hard mill brick.

The floor girders will be of steel, supporting the wooden floor beams, and the building will be plastered with hard cement plaster.

The plumbing and sanitary systems will be of the latest patents and the entire building will be heated by steam and lighted by gas and electricity.

The banking room will occupy the entire first floor, having a ceiling height of 16 feet and will be richly adorned with San Domingo mahogany cabinet work, imported marble for counters and wainscoting, bronze metal screens, Italian marble floor tiling and ornamental plaster.

The cashier's office being the central executive office of the bank is so located as to be directly accessible to the public, and with easy communication to the tellers and the bookkeepers.

The tellers' space will have similar communication and will be entirely covered by a steel burglar-proof grille

with a self-closing steel gate.

Ample desk space will be provided for the bookkeepers, who will have direct communication to the cashier, the tellers and the public.

The rear of the banking room will be occupied by the directors' room and the safe deposit and book vaults.

The safe deposit department is complete in every detail, being located so that the vault is built entirely clear of the walls of the building, and arranged so that a view of every side of the vault can be obtained, the door when closed at night being visible at all times from the street.

This entire department surrounded by steel grille work with heavy locked gates contains private alcove or document rooms and a parlor or writing room, from which is obtained direct entrance to the safe deposit vault.

The safe deposit vault, which will be enclosed by heavy fire proof masonry walls, will consist of an interlining of various plates of Chrome steel, which plates run crosswise to each other and are secured by hardened and tempered Chrome steel screws. Entrance to this vault will be obtained in the day time by means of a self-closing steel gate and at night through outer and inner Chrome steel doors, which will be secured by heavy steel bolts, operated by triple movement time locks and other automatic devices.

The combined thickness of the outer door including the bolt frame will be eight inches; the inner door will be five inches in thickness and the entire vault will weigh when completed over 20 tons.

In this vault will be placed several hundred safe deposit boxes of various sizes and ample storage for books, silver, valuable paper, etc. It will also contain a heavy Chrome steel burglar proof chest for the storage of the bills, specie, securities, etc., of the bank. This chest being further protected by heavy Chrome steel doors secured by time locks and automatic locking devices.

The construction and arrangement of the vault are as near fire and burglar proof as human ingenuity can devise, containing every modern device known in the safe builders' art, and also impenetrable during both day and night, except to authorized persons.

The book vault which will have separate masonry walls will also be lined with steel and will be provided with fireproof outer and vestibule doors, the interior containing metal book shelves and filing cases for the books, documents, etc., of the bank.

In addition to these vaults, there will be constructed in the basement two fireproof storage vaults, one for the storage of silver, books, paintings, etc., and the other for the storage of the old books and documents belonging to the bank.

The entire system of steel vault work will be modern in every detail and the safety deposit vault will be equal, if not superior to any of the vaults which have been erected in the state of Ohio.

The second floor will contain large communicating offices, with a separate entrance, vestibule and stairway, and the third floor will contain living rooms for the janitor and quarters for one of the lodges of East Liverpool.

The building and vaults are being erected from the plans and under the supervision of Architects Mowbray & Uffinger, New York city, N. Y., the work being done by Messrs. J. C. Cain & Son, East Liverpool, who have agreed to have the building ready for occupancy by November 1, 1900.

SMALL STRIKES CAUSE TROUBLE

HAD CHANCE TO ACT FIRST.

The matter was settled by Manager John W. Hall, who told the kiln drawers that no line of that kind could be drawn, as union and non-union men were working shoulder to shoulder in every pottery in the city without any distinction being made. The one man who started the agitation was permitted to leave the employ of the company and another non-union man put in his place.

It is held that the strikes in the various potteries should not be, as the manufacturers and Brotherhood have each appointed a committee to decide on the question in dispute and all questions should be referred to them, and the men should work on pending the action of the committee, which is final in all cases. A manufacturer in speaking of the matter said that when the men thought they were not getting fair treatment they had a recourse by taking the matter to the arbitration committee, which would represent them, and the manufacturers had the same chance. The manufacturers are prepared to live up to the decisions of the committee, but do not think that the men every time they have a grievance should stop work until the committee acts on it, but that they should continue work under the old rules until the matter was finally settled. It is argued that this method would do much to promote harmony in the potteries and would do away with many of the petty strikes.

At present there are two or three small strikes in the city and some of the factories have lost time when they might as well have been at work. The women kilndrawers at Murphy's want five women instead of four women in their department and the oddmen caused trouble at the D. E. McNicol pottery. The trouble at Murphy's was settled this afternoon.

THE GRAND ARMY EXERCISES

Held at Beautiful Riverview Cemetery—Large Crowd Present at the Ceremonies.

THE PROGRAM FOLLOWED OUT.

The rain interfered only with the pleasure of those who took part in the Memorial day exercises. It did not interfere with the program as prepared, which was carried out in its entirety.

In fact in spite of the weather the observation of the day was one of the most successful ever held here. Tuesday evening and all yesterday morning hundreds wended their way to the various cemeteries, laden with flowers and flags, and tenderly decorated the mounds where lay their loved ones.

The ceremonies of the G. A. R. and associated societies began with the parade, which, under the marshalship of Captain W. F. Dawson, formed on Fifth and Broadway at 2 o'clock. Promptly at the hour the procession headed by General Lyon drum corps started for Riverview. Following the drum corps came the gun squad from General Lyon Post, G. A. R., and Garfield Camp, Sons of Veterans. Next came the members of the Grand Army Post and old soldiers. Veterans of '98, Sons of Veterans of Garfield camp, the school children in conveyances, the speakers and reception committee in carriages, the Women's Relief corps in carriages and the feeble members of the post also in carriages closed the formal procession behind which came a long line of citizens in carriages and on foot. Hundreds of others went to Riverview by other routes. The line of the procession was up Broadway to Forest, to Walnut, to Bradshaw, to Avondale, to the cemetery. All along the route residents turned out to view the procession and do honor to the veterans. Many flags were displayed, and as the parade passed householders and their families turned in and followed to the cemetery to take part in the exercises there.

It was nearing 3 o'clock when the beautiful ritual exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic were held at the mound near the Memorial chapel, with a prayer by Prof. O. S. Reed. Then followed the decoration of graves by the committee of school children in charge of details from the post, Garfield camp and the teachers.

The exercises at the grave were opened by Past Commander N. A. Frederick, master of ceremonies. The singing of "America" by the post quartet was followed by an invocation by Dr. Clark Crawford.

"Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," sung by the post quartet, preceded the address of the day by Rev. Earl D. Holtz, of Wellsville. The exercises closed with the singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," led by the quartet, followed by the benediction by Rev. J. C. Taggart.

The base ball game yesterday afternoon between the Burford and Standard Pottery teams was one of the most interesting of the season. The attendance was very large.

The Standard team was weakened by the absence of Carey and Hancock, but managed to put up a fairly good game. Burford's went to bat first and made two runs on a hit by pitched ball, two hits and an error by Howard.

Standards got a goose egg and Burford's made three in the second on errors by Davis and Dailey, a passed ball, a hit by pitched ball and two singles.

Both teams were shut out in the third and Burford's made three more in the fourth on errors by Trainor, John Goodwin, McNicol and two hits. Standard scored two on a base on balls and a two-base hit by Trainor.

In the fifth both teams were shut out, but Davis made the star play of the game. He was on third when Campbell hit a little one to Stillwell and was easily thrown out at first. Davis left third and trotted home, thinking three men were out. Lounds returned the ball to Emmerling and Davis was an easy out.

In the sixth Burford's made four runs on a succession of hits, errors, a passed ball and wild pitch. Standards got another goose egg.

The Burford's were shut out in the seventh and eighth, but the Standards made four more runs, two in the eighth and two in the ninth.

SMALL STRIKE

At the Salem Pottery—Clay Mixers
Go Out and Work
Stopped.

The clay mixers employed by the Salem China company went on a strike Tuesday morning. They have been getting 50 cents a press, or two-thirds of a cent a leaf. They made a demand for 75 cents a press or one cent a leaf.

The company refused to accede to their demands and they quit. Because the clay mixers struck and quit, the turners, finishers, jiggers and pressers were knocked out of work and had to lay off. About 100 men were thrown out of work by the strike.

The company claims the men are inexperienced mixers, as they had only worked at the business for nine months.

The regular price for experienced men is 75 cents a press. The company officials say they will put new men in place of the strikers.

Go Out and Work
Stopped.

The clay mixers employed by the Salem China company went on a strike Tuesday morning. They have been getting 50 cents a press, or two-thirds of a cent a leaf. They made a demand for 75 cents a press or one cent a leaf.

The company refused to accede to their demands and they quit. Because the clay mixers struck and quit, the turners, finishers, jiggersmen and pressers were knocked out of work and had to lay off. About 100 men were thrown out of work by the strike.

The company claims the men are inexperienced mixers, as they had only worked at the business for nine months.

The regular price for experienced men is 75 cents a press. The company officials say they will put new men in place of the strikers.

Accident Near Calcutta.

Mrs. Lottie Haney and her sister, Miss Hendricks, secured a rig from Aaron McDonald to drive to Long's Run cemetery Monday. In the afternoon a man from the vicinity of Calcutta brought the horse back, reporting the buggy as being broken at the roadside near his home. Mr. McDonald drove out and found that the ladies had upset by driving over a small embankment and broken the top and one hind wheel of the buggy. The occupants were slightly injured and badly scared. The fact that the horse made no effort to get away probably saved them from serious injury.

That Will Play Havoc With Important Street Improvements.

A decision fraught with much importance to the different cities of the state of Ohio, has been handed down by the supreme court. The ruling has changed the law governing appropriation cases for the past 32 years. By its provisions it will be almost impossible to make any improvements where appropriation of valuable land is necessary.

The case is entitled the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern Railway company vs. the city of Cincinnati et al. The court held that: "Section 19 of article 1, of the constitution, is a limitation upon section 6 of article 12, as to the power of assessments.

"Second—Compensation paid to a land owner for lands taken by appropriation proceedings, to open a street, cannot be assessed back upon the lands of the owner remaining after such taking. Neither can the costs and expenses incurred in such proceeding be so assessed. Cleveland vs. Wick, 18 Ohio St., 303 overruled."

By this ruling it is held that in case, for instance, it is decided to widen a street by the appropriation of a portion of abutting property, the owner of the property so taken cannot be assessed for the improvement. The expense of the appropriation must be borne by the general fund of the city.

Prof. Nowling's orchestra of seven pieces furnished the music.

The management of the park are putting the grounds in excellent shape. Bowling alleys and other forms of amusement have been provided. A small artificial pond has been formed just below the spring and will be stocked with water lilies.

THE CITY OF HONGKONG.

It Is One of the Most Unhealthy Spots on the Globe.

In spite of all the precautions that have been taken, the perfect sanitation of the city, the fine natural drainage, the cleanliness of the streets, Hongkong is one of the most unhealthy spots on the globe. With its tropical heat the lofty peaks that half encircle it catch the clouds that the rapid evaporation create, and they are squeezed like a sponge, the floods of rain pouring down in streaming torrents.

The houses lack light, although they are built as well as they could be, with perforated ceilings, through which the air circulates, admitted from openings pierced by the outer walls. The floors are brilliantly waxed, carpets, owing to the great dampness, being dispensed with. The great difficulty is to secure light and proper ventilation. The streets are very narrow, and the towering walls of buildings opposite obstruct the light in front, while at the rear the courts of terraces crowded with foliage cast a heavy shade from that direction. In the gardens, while plants flourish luxuriantly, there is no grass, but the ground is green with moss, just as it grows in damp, shady places in cooler climates. The heat and the great humidity are destructive to health, and it is doubtful if there is a single normal liver in the whole of Hongkong.

English women who come out with complexions of cream and roses grow thin and sallow. The Hongkong complexion is a startling grayish green, and the old resident has with this palor dark bluish circles under the eyes. The least exertion includes exhausting perspiration, and people become gaunt and thin.—Boston Transcript.

OF UNTOLD VALUE.

The Information Contained In This Citizen's Statement Is Priceless.

The hale, the hearty, the strong can afford to toss this paper to one side impatiently when they read the following, but any sufferer in East Liverpool who has spent a mint of money and suffered hours of excruciating tortures caused by kidney complaint will stand in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered by Mr. S. C. Hill, of Ester, Pa., carpenter, who says: "For a year I suffered from a pain across my back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally, anxious to procure some treatment which would check, if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool people to thoroughly grasp this fact, before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured. To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased for a neighbor of mine three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Now, when a preparation which cured me in the condition I was in, and also my neighbor, a preparation which is held in such reputation in and around East Liverpool, that an acquaintance of mine advised me through a newspaper statement to obtain it, when that preparation performs exactly what it promises, what can be expected of any resident of East Liverpool suffering from kidney complaint who will not take advantage of his neighbor's experience and profit by his opinions."

Whence comest thou? Where dost thou go?"

"From out the rock's deep heart I glide,
O'er flowers and moss my course I guide.
There floats upon my mirror true
The picture of the heaven's blue."

"So, like a child without a care,
I bound along, I know not where;
He will, I trust, my Leader be,
Who from earth's bosom summoned me."

The Information Contained In This Citizen's Statement Is Priceless.

The hale, the hearty, the strong can afford to toss this paper to one side impatiently when they read the following, but any sufferer in East Liverpool who has spent a mint of money and suffered hours of excruciating tortures caused by kidney complaint will stand in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered by Mr. S. C. Hill, of Ester, Pa., carpenter, who says: "For a year I suffered from a pain across my back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally, anxious to procure some treatment which would check, if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool people to thoroughly grasp this fact, before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured. To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased for a neighbor of mine three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Now, when a preparation which cured me in the condition I was in, and also my neighbor, a preparation which is held in such reputation in and around East Liverpool, that an acquaintance of mine advised me through a newspaper statement to obtain it, when that preparation performs exactly what it promises, what can be expected of any resident of East Liverpool suffering from kidney complaint who will not take advantage of his neighbor's experience and profit by his opinions."

An Echo from the Junk Shop

By the Repair Man.

Once you were pure
As the beautiful snow:
But thou hast fallen!
Now your dazzling splendor
Which glitters in the summer sun
Pleads to the bargain hunter
Who will also fall.
Then his breath will come
In hard blue pants—
Like the hired man's—
And he will consign thee
To the junk shop
And buy an Orient.
Poor Bargain Bike!
Thou art no more fit
To be called a bicycle
Than these lines are
To be called a poem.

The Orient Bicycle will drop its price when, like other wheels, it drops its quality and stops winning races--AND NOT UNTIL THEN!

Base Ball.

The score was 5 to 4 in a 12-inning game, the features of which were the work of Ben Welch, as catcher, and that of both pitchers. Hobbs had 10 strikeouts and Painton 8. Had His Chicken.

"Queen," the big python at the zoo, had a six and one-half pound chicken for dinner yesterday afternoon in the presence of the audience.

MRS. CUS LAMBRICGER.

Snakes.

Mrs. Lambrigger was engaged this morning in giving her dangerous pets a warm bath. It was amusing to note how carefully her helpers avoided the heads of the great pythons, keeping well down to the tail end, while Mrs. L. grasped the reptile just back of the head and directed the movements of her assistants, as the massive coils were lifted warily and plumped into the water, the great snakes apparently deeming the bath a delicious thing and a decided luxury. Mrs. Lambrigger requested the writer to assist her in manipulating the coils of the second largest python, asserting that there was not the slightest danger. We informed the madame that we possess quite a reputation for gallantry, and hated awfully to refuse the earnest request of a lady, but emphasized the fact that we had bought no pythons, had no desire to take stock in the snake market, had lost no snakes, hated the reptiles on general principles, and begged the clever lady to kindly excuse us, asking her to trot out a few lions, tigers, black apes and dog-faced baboons, and we would take them willingly; but 31-foot snakes were barred; were just a shade beyond our fighting limit, and we had no desire to enter into a hugging or squeezing match, with the odds so fearfully against us.

CIRCUS DAY TOMORROW.

Ringling Bros.' Big Show Awaited
With Eager Anticipation.

Circus day is almost here. Tomorrow, Friday, June 1, will witness the arrival of Ringling Brothers' long-expected big show. The name of this wonderful institution has preceded it, and circus day will be a record making event in the annals of amusement in this city. The management is not content to have one great feature. First will be the magnificent free street parade and open air spectacle. Nothing to compare with this wonderful display has ever been seen in America. The procession leaves the show grounds promptly at 10 o'clock, and the route is over the principal downtown streets. The parade is divided into 30 sections, each of which is complete in itself, and yet so beautifully blended as to form a continuous two-mile line of ever-changing color and brilliancy.

The first performance will be given at 2 o'clock and the final one at 8 p. m. The doors will be open one hour before the performance, to afford visitors an opportunity to examine the magnificent zoological display. Reserved numbered seats and admissions show day, without any advance in price, at Will Reed's Grand Opera House Drug Store.

Chartered.

The Cherry Valley Iron company, of Pittsburg, with $350,000 capital, has been chartered at Harrisburg. The company is formed to operate the furnace and a 2,000-acre coal property of the old Cherry Valley Iron works near Leetonia, recently purchased. The furnace has a capacity of 200 tons a day.

Another Well to be Drilled.

The Salem Gas and Oil company is preparing to put down another test well in the vicinity of the one shot near New Albany the other day. The company expected to get the drills started today. Pittsburg parties were here yesterday trying to obtain leases also.

A Child Dead.

Gorgiana, the 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, of College street, died yesterday morning. The child had been afflicted with pneumonia for about six weeks. The funeral was held this afternoon, Rev.

Reinartz officiating. Interment in the Spring Grove cemetery.

THE BIGGEST FLAG.

Washington Claims to Have It, But It
is Right Here in Tyrone.

A telegram dated at Washington, D. C., the other day, is going the rounds of newspaperdom. It says:

"Ferdinand Peck, United States commissioner general to the Paris exposition, recently requested the loan of a large flag which hangs in the pension office. It was the intention, he said, to float it on the Eiffel tower on the Fourth of July. Secretary Hitchcock has decided to grant the request. This is the largest American flag in the world, measuring 26x50."

At a dinner party a few nights ago those present were commenting upon the flag and its size when one of the guests, one of the most prominent gentlemen in the city, noted for his conservatism and reliability, said: "I don't think that is the largest American flag—in fact I know it is not—because I was present at Tyrone, Pa., during the Spanish American war when they raised a flag 300 feet long."

Respect for the gentleman's veracity, mingled with wondering surprise at his telling such a "fish story," caused a period of profound silence. Then one of the diners suggested in a friendly way: "Mr. —, if I were you I'd take off a foot or two." The other, having realized just how big a 300-foot flag would be, saw he had unintentionally stretched it, and replied: "Well, I'll take off a couple of hundred feet, but not another inch." Even then the members of the party were not wholly convinced. The following clipping was secured from a Tyrone paper, comparing the Paris flag with the one there, and the diners when they read the News Review this evening will have their confidence in human nature restored.

"That the flag referred to is a large one there is no doubt, but we have one right here in Tyrone that beats it more than two to one. Our flag is 60x100 feet in size. It was floated across the narrows below town on a cable stretched an eighth of a mile from mountain to mountain on the 20th of August, 1898, when the United States was at war with Spain. The emblem is somewhat tattered now, but it is carefully preserved by William T. Henderson, who was chairman of the committee having in charge the greatest day for bigness of crowd and the shouting of patriotism that Tyrone ever witnessed. In some things, perhaps, we may be second rate, but for big flags we want it understood that Tyrone is first."

KEEP OFF STREETS.

Mayor Davidson Makes a Request of
Careful Tomorrow.

Mayor Davidson requests that all persons with vehicles and horses will keep off the streets tomorrow as far as possible while the parade is taking place. He makes the request in the hope that all possibility of accidents will be removed, and if the people live up to it there will not be any danger of a runaway like the one which occurred in the city the day the Forepaugh-Sells Brothers circus was here.

At the last meeting of Potters union No. 44 the following delegates were elected to the tenth annual convention to be held at Wheeling, W. Va., July 9: John Morro, Samuel Dobbs; alternates, C. Blumenstiel, Edward Flentke.

Base Ball.

The Jethro Buckeyes and the West
End Rovers played one of the best
games of the season at Rock Springs
yesterday. The score was 5 to 4 in
a 12-inning game, the features of
which were the work of Ben Welch,
as catcher, and that of both pitchers.
Hobbs had 10 strikeouts and Painton
8. There were 7 hits off Painton and
9 off Hobbs. Hit by pitcher, Painton,
2; Hobbs, 1. Bases on balls, Painton,
4; Hobbs 2.

Weather Didn't Suit.

A party of young ladies, among them Misses Blanche Frederick, Hat-
tie Bradshaw, Nellie Braden, Lois Bockey and Thersa Abend expect to ride their wheels to East Liverpool Decoration day, providing the weather will permit.—New Brighton News.

Had His Chicken.

"Queen," the big python at the zoo,
had a six and one-half pound chicken
for dinner yesterday afternoon in the presence of the audience.

MRS. CUS LAMBRIGGER.

Snakes.

Mrs. Lambrigger was engaged this
morning in giving her dangerous pets
a warm bath. It was amusing to note
how carefully her helpers avoided the
heads of the great pythons, keeping
well down to the tail end, while Mrs.
L. grasped the reptile just back of the
head and directed the movements of
her assistants, as the massive coils
were lifted warily and plumped into
the water, the great snakes apparently deeming the bath a delicious thing
and a decided luxury. Mrs. Lambrig-
ger requested the writer to assist her
in manipulating the coils of the second largest python, asserting that
there was not the slightest danger.
We informed the madame that we
possess quite a reputation for gallan-
try, and hated awfully to refuse the
earnest request of a lady, but emphasized the fact that we had
bought no pythons, had no desire to
take stock in the snake market, had
lost no snakes, hated the reptiles on
general principles, and begged the
clever lady to kindly excuse us, ask-
ing her to trot out a few lions, tigers,
black apes and dog-faced baboons,
and we would take them willingly;
but 31-foot snakes were barred; were
just a shade beyond our fighting limit,
and we had no desire to enter into
a hugging or squeezing match, with

CIRCUS DAY TOMORROW.

Ringling Bros.' Big Show Awaited
With Eager Antici-
pation.

Circus day is almost here. Tomorrow, Friday, June 1, will witness the
arrival of Ringling Brothers' long-expected big show. The name of this wonderful institution has preceded it,
and circus day will be a record mak-
content to have one great feature.
First will be the magnificent free
street parade and open air spectacle.
Nothing to compare with this wonderful display has ever been seen in America. The procession leaves the
show grounds promptly at 10 o'clock,
and the route is over the principal
downtown streets. The parade is divided into 30 sections, each of which
is complete in itself, and yet so beautifully blended as to form a continuous two-mile line of ever-changing
color and brilliancy.

The first performance will be given
at 2 o'clock and the final one at 8 p.
m. The doors will be open one hour
before the performance, to afford visitors an opportunity to examine the
magnificent zoological display. Reserved numbered seats and admissions
price, at Will Reed's Grand Opera House-Drug Store.

Chartered.

The Cherry Valley Iron company,
of Pittsburg, with $350,000 capital, has
been chartered at Harrisburg. The
company is formed to operate the furnace and a 2,000-acre coal property of
the old Cherry Valley Iron works near Leetonia, recently purchased. The furnace has a capacity of 200 tons a
day.

Another Well to be Drilled.

The Salem Gas and Oil company is
preparing to put down another test
well in the vicinity of the one shot
near New Albany the other day. The
company expected to get the drills
started today. Pittsburg parties were here yesterday trying to obtain leases

A Child Dead.

Gorgiana, the 1-year-old daughter
of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, of College street, died yesterday morn-
ing. The child had been afflicted with pneumonia for about six weeks. The
funeral was held this afternoon, Rev.

Reinartz officiating. Interment in the Spring Grove cemetery.

Washington Claims to Have It, But It
is Right Here in Tyrone.

A telegram dated at Washington,
D. C., the other day, is going the
rounds of newspaperdom. It says:

"Ferdinand Peck, United States
commissioner general to the Paris ex-
position, recently requested the loan
of a large flag which hangs in the
pension office. It was the intention,
he said, to float it on the Eiffel tower
on the Fourth of July. Secretary
Hitchcock has decided to grant the
flag in the world, measuring 26x50."

At a dinner party a few nights ago
those present were commenting upon
the flag and its size when one of the
guests, one of the most prominent
gentlemen in the city, noted for his
don't think that is the largest Ameri-
can flag—in fact I know it is not—because I was present at Tyrone, Pa.,
during the Spanish American war
when they raised a flag 300 feet long."

Respect for the gentleman's verac-
ity, mingled with wondering surprise at
his telling such a "fish story," caused
a period of profound silence. Then
one of the diners suggested in a friendly way: "Mr. —, if I were
other, having realized just how big
a 300-foot flag would be, saw he had
unintentionally stretched it, and replied: "Well, I'll take off a couple of hundred feet, but not another inch." Even then the members of the party were not wholly convinced. The following clipping was secured from a Tyrone paper, comparing the Paris
flag with the one there, and the diners
when they read the News Review
this evening will have their confidence
in human nature restored.

"That the flag referred to is a large
one there is no doubt, but we have
one right here in Tyrone that beats
it more than two to one. Our flag
across the narrows below town on a
cable stretched an eighth of a mile
from mountain to mountain on the 20th
of August, 1898, when the United States was at war with Spain. The
emblem is somewhat tattered now,
but it is carefully preserved by William T. Henderson, who was chairman
of the committee having in charge the
greatest day for bigness of crowd and
the shouting of patriotism that Ty-
rone ever witnessed. In some things,
perhaps, we may be second rate, but
for big flags we want it understood
that Tyrone is first."

Mayor Davidson Makes a Request of
the Owners of Horses to be Careful Tomorrow.

Mayor Davidson requests that all
persons with vehicles and horses will
keep off the streets tomorrow as far
as possible while the parade is taking place. He makes the request in the
hope that all possibility of accidents
will be removed, and if the people
live up to it there will not be any danger of a runaway like the one which
occurred in the city the day the Fore-
paugh-Sells Brothers circus was here.

SEVERAL HEARINGS TO COME

A Minor Called For a Drink and
Fire Station.

TALE OF WALLACE AND NEPHEW

The police did a land office business
yesterday and gathered in a number
of victims who didn't know enough to
stay sober on Decoration day.

James Gibbons, a minor who resides
in Industry, Pa., came to the city yester-
day and got it into his head that
he would like to have a drink. He went into a saloon and asked for what
he wanted, but the proprietor of the
saloon called up the fire station and
Officer Wood placed James under arrest. The mayor fined him $6.60 for trying to get something which he had
no business having.

James Monroe, who does not claim
relationship to the illustrious James
Monroe, filled up with very bad whisky
yesterday and when he fell into the hands of Officer Aufderheide he was very drunk and had taken up a position in the vicinity of the National house prepared to spend the night. He
was hauled to city hall and will get a
hearing at a later date.

Edward Smink was out on Sixth
street yesterday owning the street
when Officer Morris appeared on the scene. Smink was seemingly full of
the essence of corn juice and got
a ride to the city jail. He will call tonight and tell how it all happened.

Charles Brothers filled up with the
stuff which "biteth like a serpent and
stingeth like an adder" and yesterday
afternoon when Chief Thompson arrested him he was holding up the Sebring pottery in order to keep it
was taken away the pottery didn't
fall, much to his surprise, and the
a cell in the city jail. He will find
out today how much it cost him to do
all this unnecessary work.

Robert Hunt was out on a still hunt
by himself when Officer Mahony
found him at the lower end of Fifth
street. The officer decided that Hunt
was not in the proper shape to go
hunting and he would hunt a better
place for Hunt, in order that Hunt
might sober up and not hunt any
more bad whisky. Hunt will find out
how much it costs to be assisted by
the officer some time today.

John McGuire wasn't asleep at the
switch when Officer Wood found him
at 2:45 o'clock this morning, but he
was asleep on the railroad track at
the old freight station. He was taken
to a safer place at once and this morning the mayor gave him just one hour
to get out of the city. He got.

The last victim was an old man who
was raising Cain on Sixth street last
night about midnight. He was arrested by Wood and McDonald, but
did not face the mayor this morning,
and his name is not yet known.

in a fight last Saturday night, called
on the mayor last evening and settled
with his honor by paying $6.60.

J. C. Wallace called on the mayor
this morning and made a charge of
assault and battery against his step-
son, Wilbur Denning. Wallace told a
heart rending story of how his boy
had come down from New Brighton
yesterday and filled up with bad
whisky and then proceeded to give
him a thrashing by knocking him

down and kicking him in the face.
Wallace said he did not retaliate and
been treated that way, as he had spent
thousands of dollars upon that boy
and had made him what he was. The details of how the blood had been
wiped from his face by a good kind
lady was given the mayor, and in fact
Wallace didn't leave anything out.
The appearance of Benning is awaited
with interest.

yesterday were Oscar Bowles, Thomas
Stafford, Todgedy White, R. L. Mc-
Kenty and Samuel Johnson.

Eloquent Oration to Veterans and
Visitors at Riverview Yes-

INFLUENCE OF THE WAR

What Might Have Happened Had
the Rebellion Been Successful

GREAT CONFLICT REVIEWED.

The Rev. Dr. Earl D. Holtz, of Wells-
ville, was the orator of the day at Riverview cemetery yesterday. In the course of an eloquent address he said:

"We live in a different world, now
from that in which we lived during
and before the war of the rebellion.
Who would have dared to predict the
electric motor, telephone and other
of our late inventions then. It is a larger world. Much of this was brought about by science. The war
itself had a tremendous influence in
these improvements, lifting America
to a higher point in the world. The
triumph of the union cause settled
several things. First the question of
states' rights, which had been an annoying and puzzling question since the adoption of the constitution. Had
the south triumphed we should have
had two rags instead of one glorious
flag. New England would probably
have sprung away from the other
states and the great west would have
claimed the right to form another
empire, and the result would have
been a lot of petty states instead of
one glorious union. Another result
was the dignity it gave to labor. It
lifted it from an enforced servitude
to its present honorable position.

"There were more than two million
men engaged in the civil war. This number is so large that were they to
march by a given point it would take 118 days, marching day and night, to pass. The number that perished in battle was 300,000 and 200,000 died as
a direct result, making a total of one-
half million men. The sorrows which
they bore were many and the honor
due them cannot be measured. Deco-
lemnly observed. The Grand Army
men should see that a law be passed
prohibiting the playing of base ball
and other games on that day. In 20
years from now a soldier who fought
in the civil war will be looked upon
as a curiosity, just as the soldier of
the Revolution was looked upon in our
younger days."

The Local Policemen Were Out in
Their New Uniforms Yester-
day Afternoon.

The police force headed the parade
yesterday. They were attired in their
officers looked more like metropoli-
tans than any the city ever
had. The city has reason to be proud of the excellent appearance of the
officers yesterday. The umbrellas
they carried were generously donated
to them by Steinfeld & Viney.

After the parade the officers went
to city hall, where they enjoyed ice
cream at the expense of Barney Scott,
chief of the Steubenville police.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Given to Charles Sebring by a Number of His Friends Prior to His Removal.

A farewell reception was tendered

Charles Sebring by about 25 of his young friends Tuesday evening, at the home of his parents on Third street.
The family will move to Sebring in about a month. The rooms were decorated in green and white, the colors of the junior class of which he is a member. The evening was spent in music, games and dancing. An elegant luncheon was served.

there about a year awaiting the settlement of the estate.

Whitman is a young man who came to this country when about 6 years old. His visit to his native home is certainly made under auspicious circumstances.

A SUSPECT.

A Man Was Arrested Upon Suspicion
of Having Helped Rob the Cumberland Postoffice.

The city officers yesterday received word that the New Cumberland postoffice had been broken into and stamps
and money amounting to almost $1,000 taken. Later in the day a suspect was arrested, but he had no trouble
in proving that he came to the city upon the Kanawha from an up-river town. He was released.

Hunt will find out how much it costs to be assisted by the officer some time today.

John McGuire wasn't asleep at the switch when Officer Wood found him at 2:45 o'clock this morning, but he was asleep on the railroad track at the old freight station. He was taken to a safer place at once and this morning the mayor gave him just one hour to get out of the city. He got.

The last victim was an old man who was raising Cain on Sixth street last night about midnight. He was arrested by Wood and McDonald, but did not face the mayor this morning, and his name is not yet known.

Harry Aiken, who was implicated in a fight last Saturday night, called on the mayor last evening and settled with his honor by paying $6.60.

J. C. Wallace called on the mayor this morning and made a charge of assault and battery against his stepson, Wilbur Denning. Wallace told a heart rending story of how his boy had come down from New Brighton yesterday and filled up with bad whisky and then proceeded to give him a thrashing by knocking him down and kicking him in the face. Wallace said he did not retaliate and said he did not think he should have been treated that way, as he had spent thousands of dollars upon that boy and had made him what he was. The details of how the blood had been wiped from his face by a good kind lady was given the mayor, and in fact Wallace didn't leave anything out. The appearance of Benning is awaited with interest.

The special police who were on duty yesterday were Oscar Bowles, Thomas Stafford, Todger White, R. L. McKenty and Samuel Johnson.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS BY DR. EARL HOLTZ

Visitors at Riverview Yesterday.

What Might Have Happened Had
ful

GREAT CONFLICT REVIEWED.

The Rev. Dr. Earl D. Holtz, of Wells-ville, was the orator of the day at Riverview cemetery yesterday. In the course of an eloquent address he said:

"We live in a different world now from that in which we lived during and before the war of the rebellion. Who would have dared to predict the electric motor, telephone and other of our late inventions then. It is a larger world. Much of this was brought about by science. The war itself had a tremendous influence in these improvements, lifting America to a higher point in the world. The triumph of the union cause settled several things. First the question of states' rights, which had been an annoying and puzzling question since the adoption of the constitution. Had the south triumphed we should have had two rags instead of one glorious flag. New England would probably have sprung away from the other states and the great west would have claimed the right to form another empire, and the result would have been a lot of petty states instead of one glorious union. Another result was the dignity it gave to labor. It lifted it from an enforced servitude to its present honorable position.

"There were more than two million men engaged in the civil war. This number is so large that were they to march by a given point it would take 118 days, marching day and night, to pass. The number that perished in battle was 300,000 and 200,000 died as a direct result, making a total of one-half million men. The sorrows which they bore were many and the honor due them cannot be measured. Decoration day is a day that should be solemnly observed. The Grand Army men should see that a law be passed prohibiting the playing of base ball and other games on that day. In 20 years from now a soldier who fought in the civil war will be looked upon as a curiosity, just as the soldier of the Revolution was looked upon in our younger days."

The Local Policemen Were Out in Their New Uniforms Yester-
day Afternoon.

The police force headed the parade yesterday. They were attired in their officers looked more like metropolihandsome appearance. In fact the officers looked more like a metropolitan policemen than any the city ever had. The city has reason to be proud of the excellent appearance of the officers yesterday. The umbrellas they carried were generously donated to them by Steinfeld & Viney.

After the parade the officers went to city hall, where they enjoyed ice cream at the expense of Barney Scott, chief of the Steubenville police.

Foreign Envoys Declare They Will Have Large Bodies of Men Landed—Three Families of Christians Murdered by the Boxers.

TIENTSIN, May 31.—The Chinese refuse to allow Russian troops to pass the Taku forts.

TIENTSIN, May 31.—American, British, Japanese, German, Italian, Russian and French troops, to the number of 100 each, were ordered to guard their respective legations at Peking, but the viceroy here would not allow them to proceed hence to Peking on the railway without the authority of the Tsung Li Yamen. One hundred and eight Americans, with a machine gun and a field gun, landed here amidst great enthusiasm on the part of the residents. Five Russian and one British warship arrived at Taku and the British were landing.

PEKIN, May 29.—(Tuesday) From all parts of the surrounding country news arrived of fresh atrocities committed by the "Boxers." Three Christian families were massacred at Shan Lai Ying, about 60 miles from Peking, Friday, May 25.

LONDON, May 31.—A dispatch from Shanghai, dated Wednesday, said:

AGENTS PRAISED NEELY.

Rathbone's Report on Condition of Postal Finances Furnished by Secretary Smith.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Postmaster General Emory Smith sent to the house, in response to resolutions of inquiry, a letter of Director of Posts Rathbone, of Cuba, dated April 25 last, enclosing a copy of reports on the condition of the finances made by officers of the postal service in Cuba. Mr. Rathbone states that 81 money order offices are in operation, of which 56 have been inspected, including the Havana office. He added:

"In the inspection of the offices herein included some irregularities were found, which have been corrected and the postmasters thoroughly instructed. A report by Special Agent Seybolt shows many offices in good condition, with some confusion at a few points. At Cienfuegos a shortage of $179 was located, and the money order division at Havana was short $424.73, both shortages being made good."

Elaborate accounts of Messrs. Seybolt and Neal, special agents, are appended, giving the balances on many different accounts. These are certified as correct, and the special agents say in a summary, dated April 23:

"The manner in which these accounts, stamps, supplies and funds are handled reflects credit upon the chief of the bureau of finance, Mr. Charles F. W. Neely, and his assistants."

APPEAL TO DEMOCRATS.

Hearst Calls on Democratic Clubs to Hold Meetings on the Fourth of July.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Mr. William R. Hearst, president of the National Association of Democratic clubs, had a formal conference with the principal Democratic leaders in Washington regarding the plan of campaign to be followed in the approaching presidential struggle. Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee; Representative Richardson, Democratic leader in the house and chairman of the congressional committee; Judge Chauncey F. Black, Representative Slayden and others were present. It was agreed that the national committee, the National Association of Democratic clubs and the Democratic congressional campaign committee should work in harmony.

To the Democratic Clubs of the United States: Recent events in the history of the United States point to the approaching anniversary of the birthday of the nation as a day that should be celebrated with special favor this year. There are those in the nation who seek to create the impression that the American people have outgrown their love for the just principles of government expressed in the Declaration of Independence, and are ready to surrender their moral leadership among nations in order to gratify a newly born instinct for imperial power, founded on a colonial system.

All the Democratic clubs and societies are earnestly requested to assemble on the Fourth of July, and all patriotic citizens, regardless of past party affiliations, are urged to join with them in a new pledge of fidelity to the republic as the fathers made it. Let the people of the United States unite in their various cities, towns and villages in a demonstration of the confidence they feel in the form of government under which the nation has grown to its present greatness. The danger which threatens the country is real and imminent.

It seems appropriate, therefore, that citizens who believe that the declaration of independence is not merely an academic document should meet together on this day and give voice to the national sentiment that all men are created free and equal and that there must be no subject colonies under the American flag. (Signed) W. R. HEARST, President of National Association of Democratic Clubs.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 31.—The dedication of a monument erected to the memory of men who wore the gray as well as those who wore the blue and who died in mortal combat on the bloody field of Antietam, occurred here.

The president, the members of his cabinet, and the congressional party from Washington were welcomed by Governor John Walter Smith, of Maryland, and staff; Adjutant General Saunders, a delegation of the officers of the Maryland national guard, and several posts of the Grand Army of the Republic of the division of Maryland, together with members of Herbert camp of Confederate veterans, several camps of the Sons of Veterans, of both armies, and survivors of Brockenbrough's Maryland artillery, which fought with the Confederate troops and distinguished itself at Antietam.

Beside these organization bodies were scores of Confederate veterans, who had taken part in the various battles of the Civil war. These were drawn up in line to greet the president, who, together with Governor Smith, watched them as they passed in review.

Rathbone's Report on Condition of Postal Finances Furnished by Secretary Smith.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Postmaster General Emory Smith sent to the house, in response to resolutions of inquiry, a letter of Director of Posts Rathbone, of Cuba, dated April 25 last, enclosing a copy of reports on the condition of the finances made by officers of the postal service in Cuba. Mr. Rathbone states that 31 money order offices are in operation, of which 56 have been inspected, including the Havana office. He added:

"In the inspection of the offices herein included some irregularities were found, which have been corrected and the postmasters thoroughly instructed. A report by Special Agent Seybolt shows many offices in good condition, with some confusion at a few points. At Cienfuegos a shortage of $179 was located, and the money order division at Havana was short $424.73, both shortages being made good."

Elaborate accounts of Messrs. Seybolt and Neal, special agents, are appended, giving the balances on many different accounts. These are certified as correct, and the special agents say in a summary, dated April 23:

"The manner in which these accounts, stamps, supplies and funds are handled reflects credit upon the chief of the bureau of finance, Mr. Charles F. W. Neely, and his assistants."

APPEAL TO DEMOCRATS.

Hearst Calls on Democratic Clubs to Hold Meetings on the Fourth of July.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Mr. William R. Hearst, president of the National Association of Democratic clubs, had a formal conference with the principal Democratic leaders in Washington regarding the plan of campaign to be followed in the approaching presidential struggle. Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee; Representative Richardson, Democratic leader in the house and chairman of the congressional committee; Judge Chauncey F. Black, Representative Hayden and others were present. It was agreed that the national committee, the National Association of Democratic clubs and the Democratic congressional campaign committee should work in harmony.

To the Democratic Clubs of the United States:

Recent events in the history of the United States point to the approaching anniversary of the birthday of the nation as a day that should be celebrated with special favor this year. There are those in the nation who seek to create the impression that the American people have outgrown their love for the just principles of government expressed in the Declaration of Independence, and are ready to surrender their moral leadership among nations in order to gratify a newly born instinct for imperial power, founded on a colonial system.

All the Democratic clubs and societies are earnestly requested to assemble on the Fourth of July, and all patriotic citizens, regardless of past party affiliations, are urged to join with them in a new pledge of fidelity to the republic as the fathers made it. Let the people of the United States unite in their various cities, towns and villages in a demonstration of the confidence they feel in the form of government under which the nation has grown to its present greatness. The danger which threatens the country is real and imminent.

It seems appropriate, therefore, that citizens who believe that the declaration of independence is not merely an academic document should meet together on this day and give voice to the national sentiment that all men are created free and equal and that there must be no subject colonies under the American flag.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 31.—The dedication of a monument erected to the memory of men who wore the gray as well as those who wore the blue and who died in mortal combat on the bloody field of Antietam, occurred here.

The president, the members of his cabinet, and the congressional party from Washington were welcomed by Governor John Walter Smith, of Maryland, and staff; Adjutant General Saunders, a delegation of the officers of the Maryland national guard, and several posts of the Grand Army of the Republic of the division of Maryland, together with members of Herbert camp of Confederate veterans, several camps of the Sons of Veterans, of both armies, and survivors of Brockenbrough's Maryland artillery, which fought with the Confederate troops and distinguished itself at Antietam.

Colonel Taylor, as president of the Antietam battlefield commission of Maryland, then presented the monument to the national government and the Hon. Elihu Root, secretary of war, in a brief address, accepted it on behalf of the United States. Then followed short addresses, mainly of a reminiscence character, by Generals John B. Brooks, James Longstreet, Orlando B. Wilcox, J. E. Duryee, Senators Foraker, Burrows, Daniel and others.

SURPRISED BY REBELS.

FIVE AMERICANS WERE KILLED.

Captain Roberts and Two Privates Missing—A Band Under Escort of United States Troops Attacked by Ladrones. Three of the Party Were Killed.

MANILA, May 31.—5:30 a. m.—On Tuesday night the insurgents rushed San Miguel de Mayumo, province of Bulacan, Luzon, garrisoned by three companies of the Thirty-fifth volunteer infantry.

They swept through the surprised town, shooting right and left, killing five Americans and wounding seven. Captain Charles D. Roberts and two privates are missing.

No Filipino dead were discovered. San Miguel de Mayumo is a few miles from Manila.

While a band under the escort of the Forty-sixth infantry was moving from Ilang to Silang, within 25 miles of Manila, it was attacked by ladrones, three of the party being killed.

SCOUTS BURNED A TOWN.

Several Engagements With Rebels—Their Losses Severe.

MANILA, May 31.—Lieutenant Jens E. Stedje, of Company L, Forty-seventh volunteers, commanding a scouting party in the southern part of Albay province, had several engagements with the insurgents, in which 17 of the enemy were killed and 23, including a captain, were captured. Six explosive bombs and a number of valuable insurgent documents also fell into the hands of the Americans. The scouts burned the town of Yubi, the headquarters of the rebels. Sergeant Brickley was killed during a slight engagement near Higao, province of Albay.

Scouts of the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-fourth regiments have captured 32 rifles and 500 rounds of ammunition in the Pangasinan province.

MAY SUMMON CITIZENS.

Sheriff Likely to Call on Citizens to Help Preserve the Peace in St. Louis.

St. Louis, May 31.—Violent demonstrations and scenes of bloodshed of the day before were followed by a pronounced lull in the street car strike. Only one name was added to the long casualty list, that of Anthony Chalupsky, who was shot in the legs by a policeman.

The police board met and decided to call upon Sheriff Pohlmann to summon a posse committatus to assist in quelling the disturbances incident to the street car strike, having failed in its efforts to secure 2,500 extra policemen to preserve law and order.

Sheriff Pohlmann was present and held a conference with the commissioners. He stated he had anticipated such a call and had prepared a list of 600 names, including many of the leading citizens of St. Louis, on whom he will call to serve as deputies.

PENSION BILLS WERE PASSED.

House Further Adjourned Out of Respect For Decoration Day.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The program of the leaders of the house contemplated the launching of the debate upon the anti-trust resolution and bill, but there was a strong undercurrent in favor of adjournment on account of Decoration day.

Mr. Dalzell, who presented the special order under which the house was to operate, in deference to this sentiment, withdrew it in order that the 190 pension bills might be passed, and, after they had been disposed of, as a further mark of respect the house adjourned.

The Chinese commission bill, which was under consideration several weeks, has gone back to the calendar, the motion to strike out the enacting clause having been defeated.

STONE'S ILLEGAL VETO.

Elkin Declares the People Can't Vote on the Amendments Next November.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 31.—Attorney General Elkin said that the proposed amendments to the constitution, providing for personal registration of voters and the introduction of voting machines, which the supreme court has decided Governor Stone had no authority to veto, cannot be voted upon at the election next November. The legislature of 1901 must first act upon them, and if a majority of its members support them, they will then be submitted to a vote of the people.

As soon as Judge Weiss receives a certified copy of Chief Justice Green's opinion he will make an order directing the secretary of the commonwealth to advertise the proposed amendments.

WORKED THE AGENT.

THE GRAND PROMOTER TOO MUCH FOR THE BOOK CANVASSER.

Major Crofoot Organizes the Dietary Sausage Trust on a Capital of $5,000,000 and Accepts a Small Installment of Cash on Account.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was a canvasser for "The Life of Napoleon," price $3.50 in calf, and he had scarcely exhibited his sample copy when Major Crofoot arose and took him by the hand and exclaimed: "Just the man I wanted to see of all others in the world! By George, but this is luck!"

"I shall be happy to book your order," smilingly replied the canvasser. "Will you take calf or morocco?"

"My dear man," continued the major, "my name is on a sign at the door, but it doesn't state my business. Let me say to you that I am a grand promoter of enterprises, an organizer, a consolidator, an originator of some of the most stupendous and gigantic schemes of the country. You have come to the right man in the right time."

"Six stupendous enterprises in the last six weeks—one per week—and every one of them bound to pay a quarterly dividend of 30 per cent—bound to do it. That's $1.20 per year, and I'd like to see the diamond mines doing better. Six stupendous enterprises originated, capitalized and floated, and now comes the seventh. Fortune must have directed your footsteps. I am going to take you in. Yes, sir, I'll give you a show compared to which the 'Life of Napoleon' can't be mentioned. Let me congratulate you, sir—let me shake hands with another newborn millionaire!"

"Y-e-s, but how about the book, major?" was asked.

"You have heard of the dietary sausage, of course," said the major as he walked to and fro; "invented by accident by one of the greatest chefs in America, and, as he had no idea of what a good thing he had struck, I bought his right, title and interest for

"SALARY TO BE PAID WEEKLY OR MONTHLY," a mere song. The d. s. has jumped into popularity in a day; has all the juiciness of fresh pork, the nutritive qualities of beef, and the taste reminds you of venison; can be made of seven kinds of meat if you happen to have them on hand, or you can get along with only one. It's the way they are fried that makes 'em dietary and has set the gormands crazy; sure to drive every other sausage out of the market in four weeks more—sure to do it; can be furnished as rations to every army and navy in the world; can be sold in every hotel, boarding house and family wherever humanity exists; good for breakfast, dinner or supper; can't run no camp meeting, picnic or Sunday school excursion without 'em. My dear fellow man, your fortune is made!"

"If you would select the style of binding"—began the man.

"But we've got to go a little slow for a few weeks," interrupted the major. "There is a disposition on the part of the world's aristocracy to class sausage way down on the list of meats; can't expect that lords and dukes and presidents will order a second plate of them until they realize that it won't affect their social positions; got to look out for social prestige, you know. Once get the whirlwind of popularity started, and the public won't stop to ask whether our dietaries are made of fish, flesh or coco matting. First thing is to warrant them to cure indigestion, torpid liver and all that. They are a spring and fall tonic. All singers, actresses and athletes use them; testimonials from professors, actors, clergymen and thousands of others, and all family doctors recommend them above everything else. And there you are, my boy; there you are, and let me shake hands with you again."

"And you are to be our purchasing agent and buy our raw material. Dietary sausages will be made in several different lengths and sizes, and we shall use beef, pork, mutton, fish and what not; everything to be bought alive and killed in our own slaughter houses and hashed up with our own knives. You attend to the buying and I attend to the frying. Millions of dollars will pass through your hands every year, but we shall trust to your honesty; salary $15,000 per year at least, and you come in on the ground floor for stock. I just lack $10 to meet the expenses of organization, and I'll borrow it of you for a day or two. We shall capitalize at $5,000,000, but probably increase to $15,000,000 inside of a year. And what is the name, please?"

"Yes, we will call it the Great American Dietary Sausage company," interrupted the major, "and as purchasing agent we'll deposit $500,000 to your credit to start on; salary to be paid weekly or monthly, just as you elect, and the dividends on the stock to come quarterly. I need $10 to see my way clear, but if you can't spare that sum give me $5. And there you are, sir; there you are."

"But I haven't got $5."

"Don't neglect this golden opportunity, my dear contemporary; don't do it. The man who invented the Welsh rabbit made $3,000,000 and lived to be 90 years old. Angel cake brought its inventor $1,000,000 while he lived and a monument 40 feet high after death. Hoky poky ice cream won't be in it with dietary sausage. Peanut brittle and lobster salad have already gone to the rear. Why, sir, any moment a telegraph boy may come in with a telegram from the president reading: 'Congratulations on your dietary; have only eaten one barrel and am sure I shall be renominated. Send another by express.' The very next mail will probably bring unsolicited testimonials from a dozen actresses and four or five senators. It is needless for me to tell you that delays are dangerous. Time, tide and the dietary sausage wait for no man. If you haven't got $5, I'll try and make $3 do. Leave your name and $3."

"The 'Life of Napoleon'—"

"Never mind the 'Life of Napoleon,' my boy. Napoleon was a great man, but Major Crofoot wasn't on earth then. We are not delving in the past, but digging into the future. Where Napoleon made $100 you'll make $5,000. Let others conquer the world by force of arms if they will, but we'll conquer it by force of dietary sausage. You've certainly got $2 about you. I want to get the organization perfected today."

"I've—I've only got a dollar," stammered the canvasser as he exhibited the bill.

"Well, I'll take it and make it go as far as it will," replied the major as the greenback changed hands. "You'll feel safer for having invested money in the enterprise. Stock will be ready in about two weeks, and as soon as we can erect and equip a factory you'll begin purchasing stock. Yes, I'll make the dollar do, and you'd better begin posting up on meats. When we once get started"—

"But I came up here to sell you this book!"

"When we once get started, we'll use up at least 1,000 tons per week, and you must be able to tell at a glance whether the meat is juicy enough for our purpose. That's all, and there you are, and I'll send for you when the papers are ready to be signed. I think we'll make the ground floor price on stock 20 cents, but maybe we can scale that figure down a little. At any rate, there you are, and you can have every confidence that your canvassing days are ended. Turn to the right, please, and good day—good day."

"But listen a minute. I came up here to sell you"—

"And don't give me away—don't do it," cautioned the major as he pushed his caller along. "Just keep mum and saw wood until our patent is secured, and then we'll jump on the whole world with both feet and boom dietary sausage even to the drawing rooms of royalty. Ground floor—$15,000 per year—golden opportunity. Don't miss it."

A minute later the canvasser found himself on the street, and when he was asked what had happened him that he looked so put out he replied:

The History of Grip.

The history of "grip," or influenza, can only be traced back, with any certainty, for 300 years. Perhaps its home is in Russia. It retains certain broad characteristics which make it recognizable even under such odd names as the "gentle correction" and the "new delight." A curious description of it under the name of "coqueluche" is found in the diary of Pierre de L'Estoile in the time of Henry III of France, as follows:

"The coqueluche at Paris, year 1580. —From the 2d day to the 8th day of June there fell sick at Paris 10,000 persons of an illness having the form of a rheum or catarrh, which they call the 'coqueluche.' This illness seizes you with a pain in the head, stomach and loins and a lassitude throughout the body, and it persecuted the whole kingdom of France while the year lasted, so that once having come hardly anybody in a town or village or house escaped."

"The best remedy the doctors found was to make the sick abstain from wine. To some they ordered bleeding and rhubarb, for others cassia, and finally they found it best to keep the sick in bed and allow them little to eat and drink. They say at Paris that of this 'coqueluche' there were dead at Rome, in less than three months, more than 10,000 persons."

Gargling the Throat.

If one is to really do good by gargling—that is, if one is to insure that the fluid shall reach the posterior wall of the pharynx—the nose must be held and the head must be well thrown back while performing the gargling process. By gargling in the usual way only the anterior surface of the uvula and soft palate and the base of the tongue are reached. But by holding the nose and throwing the head well back when gargling the medicament reaches every surface of the pharynx very effectively.

The comparative value of the two methods can be tested by painting the posterior surface of the pharynx carefully with a strong solution of methylene blue and then letting the patient gargle with water in the usual way, when it will be found that the water ejected will be clear and unstained; then let him gargle again, holding the nose and throwing his head well back, when the ejected fluid will be found stained, and an inspection of the pharynx will show that the blue has been washed away.

This is a thing worth remembering, for many observers have maintained that gargling is not only useless as a method of medication, but is quite ineffectual even as a means of cleansing the pharynx.—Charlotte Medical Journal.

A Famous Kentucky Hotel.

The Phoenix hotel is in one sense the oldest hotel in the whole western country, for it has, with varying changes, continued to exist ever since the year 1800. It was here that Aaron Burr lodged in 1806 while engaged in his daring conspiracy to make himself the head of a new empire and was here met and welcomed by Herman Blennerhassett, the cultured but unfortunate Irishman he had so completely fascinated. Here, as far back as Jefferson's administration, Democrats and Federalists, in knee buckled breeches, ruffled shirts and dangling cues, talked redhot politics. It was the scene of a sumptuous dinner to Lafayette, and later was the stopping place of the wily Mexican chieftain General Santa Anna. During the civil war, while Lexington was held by the Confederates, it was the headquarters of Generals Bragg and Kirby Smith and before the struggle ended sheltered General Grant. President Arthur has also been its guest.—Lexington (Ky.) Observer.

A Torturing Suggestion

They reassured him. "There was a march played when I was married," he muttered. "I—I could not bear to be reminded of that!"

OLD TIMES, OLD FRIENDS, OLD LOVE

There are no days like the good old days—

The days when we were youthful;
When humankind were pure of mind
And speech and deeds were truthful;
Before a love for sordid gold
Became man's ruling passion .
And before each dame and maid became
Slaves to the tyrant fashion.

There are no girls like the good old girls—

Against the world I'd stake 'em—
As buxom and smart and clean of heart
As the Lord knew how to make 'em.
They were rich in spirit and common sense,
A piety all supportin';
They could bake and brew and had taught
school, too,
And they made the likeliest courtin'.

There are no boys like the good old boys

When we were boys together,
When the grass was sweet to the brown bare feet
That dimpled the laughing heather,
When the pewee sung to the summer dawn
Of the bee in the billowy clover,
Or down by the mill the whippoorwill
Echoed his night song over.

There is no love like the good old love—

The love that mother gave us.
We are old, old men, yet we pine again
For that precious grace—God save us.
So we dream and dream of the good old times,
And our hearts grow tenderer, fonder,
As those dear old dreams bring soothing gleams
Of heaven away off yonder.

—Eugene Field.

When the Moment to Strike Had Come, He Did Not Hesitate.

Badajos lies in Spain five miles from the Portuguese frontier. It was the key of a situation. Wellington's chance was to strike at Badajos before the French marshals could combine and crush him. His task was both in front of him and behind him. He lacked transport; he lacked food for the men; the soldiers were eating cassava root instead of bread; the bullocks were weak and emaciated. All this was the doing of the parliament at home.

But Wellington knew that the moment to strike had come, and he seems to have hesitated very little. Placing no faith in the tongues of the Portuguese, he made his plans with all possible secrecy. The guns for the siege were loaded on board the transport at Lisbon and consigned to a fictitious address. But in the river Sadhao they were placed upon smaller vessels, and finally they were again landed and drawn by bullocks to Elos, a post in the possession of the allies. Having stationed two-thirds of his force under General Graham and General Hill to prevent a most probable interference by Soult and Marmont, Wellington advanced, reaching Elos on the 11th of March, 1812. He had made the most incredible exertions.

The stupidity of the Portuguese had vied with the stupidity of the government at home. Wellington had been carrying the preparation for the campaign upon his own shoulders. If he was to win Badajos, he was to win it with no help save that from gallant and trustworthy subordinates. He was ill withal. Even his strangely steel-like nature had bent beneath the trouble of preparation amid such indifference. But on March 16 Beresford, with three divisions, crossed the Guardiana on pontoons and flying bridges, drove the enemy's outposts and invested Badajos.—Stephen Crane in New Lipincott's.

Bet and Wager.

"What's the difference between a bet and a wager?" asked the man who thinks there are too many words in the English language.

"A bet," said the friend who always wears a dress coat after 6 o'clock, "is something you make with a man, which has to be paid, no matter who loses. A wager is something more refined. It's made with a woman and is not considered collectable unless she wins."—Washington Star.

THE GRAND PROMOTER TOO MUCH FOR THE BOOK CANVASSER.

Major Crofoot Organizes the Dietary Sausage Trust on a Capital of $5,000,000 and Accepts a Small Installment of Cash on Account.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was a canvasser for "The Life of Napoleon," price $3.50 in calf, and he had scarcely exhibited his sample copy when Major Crofoot arose and took him by the hand and exclaimed:

"Just the man I wanted to see of all others in the world! By George, but this is luck!"

"I shall be happy to book your order," smilingly replied the canvasser. "Will you take calf or morocco?"

"My dear man," continued the major, "my name is on a sign at the door, but it doesn't state my business. Let me say to you that I am a grand promoter of enterprises, an organizer, a consolidator, an originator of some of the most stupendous and gigantic schemes of the country. You have come to the right man in the right time."

"Six stupendous enterprises in the last six weeks—one per week—and every one of them bound to pay a quarterly dividend of 30 per cent—bound to do it. That's $1.20 per year, and I'd like to see the diamond mines doing better. Six stupendous enterprises originated, capitalized and floated, and now comes the seventh. Fortune must have directed your footsteps. I am going to take you in. Yes, sir, I'll give you a show compared to which the 'Life of Napoleon' can't be mentioned. Let me congratulate you, sir—let me shake hands with another newborn millionaire!"

"Y-e-s, but how about the book, major?" was asked.

"You have heard of the dietary sausage, of course," said the major as he walked to and fro; "invented by accident by one of the greatest chefs in America, and, as he had no idea of what a good thing he had struck, I wrote his right, title and interest for

"SALARY TO BE PAID WEEKLY OR MONTHLY," a mere song. The d. s. has jumped into popularity in a day; has all the juiciness of fresh pork, the nutritive qualities of beef, and the taste reminds you of venison; can be made of seven kinds of meat if you happen to have them on hand, or you can get along with only one. It's the way they are fried that makes 'em dietary and has set the gormands crazy; sure to drive every other sausage out of the market in four weeks more—sure to do it; can be furnished as rations to every army and navy in the world; can be sold in every hotel, boarding house and family wherever humanity exists; good for breakfast, dinner or supper; can't run no camp meeting, picnic or Sunday school excursion without 'em. My dear fellow man, your fortune is made!"

"If you would select the style of binding"—began the man.

"But we've got to go a little slow for a few weeks," interrupted the major. "There is a disposition on the part of the world's aristocracy to class sausage way down on the list of meats; can't expect that lords and dukes and presidents will order a second plate of them until they realize that it won't affect their social positions; got to look out for social prestige, you know. Once get the whirlwind of popularity started, and the public won't stop to ask whether our dietaries are made of fish, flesh or coco matting. First thing is to warrant them to cure indigestion, torpid liver and all that. They are a spring and fall tonic. All singers, actresses and athletes use them; testimonials from professors, actors, clergymen and thousands of others, and all family doctors recommend them above everything else. And there you are, my boy; there you are, and let me shake hands with you again."

"And you are to be our purchasing agent and buy our raw material. Dietary sausages will be made in several different lengths and sizes, and we shall use beef, pork, mutton, fish and what not; everything to be bought alive and killed in our own slaughter houses and hashed up with our own knives. You attend to the buying and I attend to the frying. Millions of dollars will pass through your hands every year, but we shall trust to your honesty; salary $15,000 per year at least, and you come in on the ground floor for stock. I just lack $10 to meet the expenses of organization, and I'll borrow it of you for a day or two. We shall capitalize at $5,000,000, but probably increase to $15,000,000 inside of a year. And what is the name, please?"

"Yes, we will call it the Great American Dietary Sausage company," interrupted the major, "and as purchasing agent we'll deposit $500,000 to your credit to start on; salary to be paid weekly or monthly, just as you elect, and the dividends on the stock to come quarterly. I need $10 to see my way clear, but if you can't spare that sum give me $5. And there you are, sir; there you are."

"But I haven't got $5."

"Don't neglect this golden opportunity, my dear contemporary; don't do it. The man who invented the Welsh rabbit made $3,000,000 and lived to be 90 years old. Angel cake brought its inventor $1,000,000 while he lived and a monument 40 feet high after death. Hoky poky ice cream won't be in it with dietary sausage. Peanut brittle and lobster salad have already gone to the rear. Why, sir, any moment a telegraph boy may come in with a telegram from the president reading: 'Congratulations on your dietary; have only eaten one barrel and am sure I shall be re-nominated. Send another by express.' The very next mail will probably bring unsolicited testimonials from a dozen actresses and four or five senators. It is needless for me to tell you that delays are dangerous. Time, tide and the dietary sausage wait for no man. If you haven't got $5, I'll try and make $3 do. Leave your name and $3."

"The 'Life of Napoleon'—"
"Never mind the 'Life of Napoleon,' my boy. Napoleon was a great man, but Major Crofoot wasn't on earth then. We are not delving in the past, but digging into the future. Where Napoleon made $100 you'll make $5,000. Let others conquer the world by force of arms if they will, but we'll conquer it by force of dietary sausage. You've certainly got $2 about you. I want to get the organization perfected today."

"I've—I've only got a dollar," stammered the canvasser as he exhibited the bill.

"Well, I'll take it and make it go as far as it will," replied the major as the greenback changed hands. "You'll feel safer for having invested money in the enterprise. Stock will be ready in about two weeks, and as soon as we can erect and equip a factory you'll begin purchasing stock. Yes, I'll make the dollar do, and you'd better begin posting up on meats. When we once get started"—

"But I came up here to sell you this book!"

"When we once get started, we'll use up at least 1,000 tons per week, and you must be able to tell at a glance whether the meat is juicy enough for our purpose. That's all, and there you are, and I'll send for you when the papers are ready to be signed. I think we'll make the ground floor price on stock 20 cents, but maybe we can scale that figure down a little. At any rate, there you are, and you can have every confidence that your canvassing days are ended. Turn to the right, please, and good day—good day."

"But listen a minute. I came up here to sell you"—

"And don't give me away—don't do it," cautioned the major as he pushed his caller along. "Just keep mum and saw wood until our patent is secured, and then we'll jump on the whole world with both feet and boom dietary sausage even to the drawing rooms of royalty. Ground floor—$15,000 per year—golden opportunity. Don't miss it."

A minute later the canvasser found himself on the street, and when he was asked what had happened him that he looked so put out he replied:

The History of Grip.

The history of "grip," or influenza, can only be traced back, with any certainty, for 300 years. Perhaps its home is in Russia. It retains certain broad characteristics which make it recognizable even under such odd names as the "gentle correction" and the "new delight." A curious description of it is found in the diary of Pierre de L'Estoile in the time of Henry III of France, as follows:

"The coqueluche at Paris, year 1580. —From the 2d day to the 8th day of June there fell sick at Paris 10,000 persons of an illness having the form of a rheum or catarrh, which they call the 'coqueluche.' This illness seizes you with a pain in the head, stomach and loins and a lassitude throughout the body, and it persecuted the whole kingdom of France while the year lasted, so that once having come hardly anybody in a town or village or house escaped.

"The best remedy the doctors found was to make the sick abstain from wine. To some they ordered bleeding and rhubarb, for others cassia, and finally they found it best to keep the sick in bed and allow them little to eat and drink. They say at Paris that of this 'coqueluche' there were dead at Rome, in less than three months, more than 10,000 persons."

Gargling the Throat.

If one is to really do good by gargling—that is, if one is to insure that the fluid shall reach the posterior wall of the pharynx—the nose must be held and the head must be well thrown back while performing the gargling process. By gargling in the usual way only the anterior surface of the uvula and soft palate and the base of the tongue are reached. But by holding the nose and throwing the head well back when gargling the medicament reaches every surface of the pharynx very effectively.

The comparative value of the two methods can be tested by painting the posterior surface of the pharynx carefully with a strong solution of methylene blue and then letting the patient gargle with water in the usual way, when it will be found that the water ejected will be clear and unstained; then let him gargle again, holding the nose and throwing his head well back, when the ejected fluid will be found stained, and an inspection of the pharynx will show that the blue has been washed away.

This is a thing worth remembering, for many observers have maintained that gargling is not only useless as a method of medication, but is quite ineffectual even as a means of cleansing the pharynx.—Charlotte Medical Journal.

A Famous Kentucky Hotel.

The Phoenix hotel is in one sense the oldest hotel in the whole western country, for it has, with varying changes, continued to exist ever since the year 1800. It was here that Aaron Burr lodged in 1806 while engaged in his daring conspiracy to make himself the head of a new empire and was here met and welcomed by Herman Blennerhassett, the cultured but unfortunate Irishman he had so completely fascinated. Here, as far back as Jefferson's administration, Democrats and Federalists, in knee buckled breeches, ruffled shirts and dangling cues, talked redhot politics. It was the scene of a sumptuous dinner to Lafayette, and later was the stopping place of the wily Mexican chieftain General Santa Anna. During the civil war, while Lexington was held by the Confederates, it was the headquarters of Generals Bragg and Kirby Smith and before the struggle ended sheltered General Grant. President Arthur has also been its guest.—Lexington (Ky.) Observer.

A Torturing Suggestion

They reassured him. "There was a march played when I was married," he muttered. "I—I could not bear to be reminded of that!"

OLD TIMES, OLD FRIENDS, OLD LOVE.

There are no days like the good old days—
The days when we were youthful;
When humankind were pure of mind
And speech and deeds were truthful;
Before a love for sordid gold
Became man's ruling passion
And before each dame and maid became
Slaves to the tyrant fashion.

There are no girls like the good old girls—
Against the world I'd stake 'em—
As buxom and smart and clean of heart
As the Lord knew how to make 'em.
They were rich in spirit and common sense,
A pity all supporting;
They could bake and brew and had taught
School, too,
And they made the likeliest courtin.

There are no boys like the good old boys
When we were boys together,
When the grass was sweet to the brown bare feet
That dimpled the laughing heather,
When the pewee sung to the summer dawn
Of the bee in the billowy clover,
Or down by the mill the whippoorwill
Echoed his night song over.

There is no love like the good old love—
The love that mother gave us.
We are old, old men, yet we pine again
For that precious grace—God save us.
So we dream and dream of the good old times,
And our hearts grow tenderer, fonder,
As those dear old dreams bring soothing gleams
Of heaven away off yonder.

When the Moment to Strike Had Come, He Did Not Hesitate.

Badajos lies in Spain five miles from the Portuguese frontier. It was the key of a situation. Wellington's chance was to strike at Badajos before the French marshals could combine and crush him. His task was both in front of him and behind him. He lacked transport; he lacked food for the men; the soldiers were eating cassava root instead of bread; the bullocks were weak and emaciated. All this was the doing of the parliament at home.

But Wellington knew that the moment to strike had come, and he seems to have hesitated very little. Placing no faith in the tongues of the Portuguese, he made his plans with all possible secrecy. The guns for the siege were loaded on board the transport at Lisbon and consigned to a fictitious address. But in the river Sadhao they were placed upon smaller vessels, and finally they were again landed and drawn by bullocks to Eloas, a post in the possession of the allies. Having stationed two-thirds of his force under General Graham and General Hill to prevent a most probable interference by Soult and Marmont, Wellington advanced, reaching Eloas on the 11th of March, 1812.
